

No 'Creeping Sensitivity' Program for Jeff High

By WILL E. THOMAS

Jefferson Union High School District trustees in Daly City last night agreed they don't know much about "sensitivity" programs and took action to make certain such a program does not creep into their schools' curriculums without trustee analysis and approval.

The move came at the urging of trustee Raymond Milton after Dist. Supt. Edward Morgan outlined contents of correspondence on so-called sensitivity programs at one-year-old Serramonte High School.

A letter from Mrs. Andrew Ynostrosa, Jr., chairman of the Serramonte High School Association, had stated the unit's concern "with the use of so-called 'sensitivity' techniques in the classroom."

She urged clarification on four points:

1—What are the goals of the teachers involved in teaching through these methods?

2—How are these goals reconciled with the goals of the English department (and why, if these are to be classes using these techniques, are they in the English department?)

3—Are your teachers qualified to use these techniques (and what qualifications are necessary?)

4—Has the board of trustees a policy for the adoption of new courses and methods of instruction.

Mrs. Ynostrosa's letter was answered separately by Edwin S. Brownstone, Jr., head of the Serramonte English department; Louis J. Martin, principal; and Superintendent Morgan.

Brownstone defined the term "sensitivity," as he understood it, first in its "generally-accepted" meaning, secondly in the way the Serramonte Association meant it.

"In its more generally accepted definition, it customarily denotes the extent to which an organism is affected by outside operations or influences, such as heat, light, sound, etc.

"The term is often used, however, to denote what is more properly labeled 'sensibility'; namely, appreciation accompanying mental apprehension or discerning judgement. Used in this latter sense, 'sensitivity' is an integral and important factor in the English curriculum.

"The vehicle by which apprehension, judgement, appreciation and awareness are formed is the great body of the world's great literature: the best thoughts of the best minds. It is a primary objective of the English teacher to awaken in his students a desire to know, to appreciate, to understand and to become 'sensitive' to these great minds."

But, there is, Brownstone said, "a more specialized or restricted meaning" of the term, which he said currently is "in vogue among certain ultra-liberal factions within the teaching profession."

"I am not sure," he explained, "that I understand the term as it is used in this sense, but as the 'training' or 'technique' is practised, it seems to consist of a group of students sitting about facing each other with either vacuous or hostile stares, waiting for an exchange of ignorance unadulterated by any vestige of sense or intelligence."

Brownstone called the technique "not only without value" as an academic method, but said it may prove "downright dangerous."

He did qualify his opposition somewhat.

"If... such experiments are to be performed on the maladjusted or disturbed, such experiments should be performed only by trained psychologists or psychiatrists under rigidly supervised and controlled conditions."

Brownstone emphasized that such experiments "should never be forced upon impressionable young people held captive in an academic classroom by a dabbler in the science of the most enigmatical area of life, the human mind."

They still would have no "educational significance," he asserted.

"Obviously," he wrote Mrs. Ynostrosa, "I am vehemently opposed to the employment of these so-called 'sensitivity' techniques not only in the English area, but in the school as a whole."

He concluded, "I will vigorously oppose this trend into the classroom of our or any school and will use whatever influence I may have to curtail it."

Principal Martin's response dealt solely with qualifications of persons to conduct "sensitivity" programs.

Though admitting he had not (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Stress On Tourism In Fair Report

A complete restructuring of the San Mateo County Fair and Convention Association with a new emphasis on tourism was recommended to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

Under the reorganization, a new County Visitors and Convention Bureau would be born and the County Fair would become one of many special events to attract tourists to San Mateo County.

This was the top priority recommendation of a $12,500 study submitted to the Board by Travel Development Corporation of Honolulu.

Main conclusion of the report is that San Mateo County has both scenic and man-made attractions which could be promoted into important money-making tourist attractions.

The report also concluded that while the County has a good share of hotel and motel rooms for tourists, they are too concentrated near International Airport and need to be decentralized through the county.

Government would play an important role in encouraging this process by providing public services required at these locations, the report points out.

Another major recommendation calls for complete renovation of the County Fair facilities in order to adopt them for convention use or possible creation of a new facility.

The report suggests that a special committee be appointed by the Board of Supervisors to come up with a year-around Disneyland-type of amusement park stressing a Fiesta theme.

The report points out that International Airport will reach a saturation point within five years which could result in construction of a new facility which might divert the international flight pattern away from the county to another area.

PACIFICA HOOKUP

Increase in Sewer Fee Seen for D.C.

A proposed agreement between the City of Pacifica and the North San Mateo County Sanitation District in Daly City for the joint use of Pacifica's sewerage treatment facilities was amended Monday by the Pacifica council to increase the average fee to be paid by Daly City residents.

Mayor Nick Gust and members of the council instructed the city staff to draw up a resolution proposing an agreement calling for an annual charge of $21 instead of the originally proposed $18 for Daly City users of the city's sewer facilities.

The new proposal also calls for Daly City to bear the entire cost of "hooking up" to the Pacifica system, an expense which would have been shared by the two cities under the original agreement proposed last month.

If the proposed agreement is approved by Daly City officials, approximately 700 households in the Westlake 11 and 12 subdivisions will be connected to the Pacifica sewer system, and waste from the area will be processed at the Sharp Park treatment plant.

Pacifica councilmen have agreed to enter into the agreement (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Passing the Gavel

JAN BEEKMAN, left, outgoing president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association, passed the gavel to newly elected president Joan Hemphill this week after Mrs. Hemphill was elected to head the teacher organization. The JCTA membership includes most of Daly City's certificated elementary teachers.

'Out of Question?'

Underground Power Line, Demands Pacifica Council

Pacifica councilmen Monday demanded that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company underground a proposed new high voltage power line through the city at a cost of more than a half million dollars as a condition for approval of the project.

Acting after PG&E officials presented plans and cost estimates for overhead installation of three 115 KV lines along Valencia, Higgins, Crespi and Adobe Drive, Mayor Nick Gust and council members told the company representatives to "tell the people who control the purse strings that that is our proposal."

The PG&E spokesmen reappeared at the Monday meeting at the council's request to present comparative cost estimates for the installation of steel and wooden poles along the route through the city, and appeared taken aback by the demand for "total undergrounding."

Don Halverson, manager of the company's Daly City office, and senior electrical engineer John Burton indicated the undergrounding project, which would cost more than $500,000, is "out of the question."

Burton and another PG&E representative, Roy Payne, said the company would "seriously consider abandoning the entire route" if such an outlay proved necessary.

The company has offered to underground existing distribution lines along the route, and install new steel and wooden poles to "clean up the appearance of the neighborhood."

Councilmen first questioned plans to use wooden poles along a portion of the route two weeks ago, and asked the PG&E representatives to consider using all steel poles.

Burton reported Monday that using steel poles exclusively would result in an additional outlay approximately $57,000 for the project.

The company officials did not, however, rule out the possibility (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

S. Bruno Cable TV Hearings

City Councilmen in San Bruno will conduct public hearings, possibly within a month, on a proposal to establish a municipally owned cable television system.

A motion by Councilman George Corey, approved by colleagues, directed City Mgr. Gerard Vergeer and City Atty. Joseph Galligan Monday night to "prepare necessary papers" and provide the city with the "necessary information" on establishment of a combined water-cable television department.

Vergeer had explained that three most feasible ways of financing a municipally owned and operated system would be through sale of revenue bonds, dipping into city reserves or formation of a consolidated water-cable television division.

Corey said he favored the combined utility.

The system that Vergeer envisioned would service the area west of El Camino Real initially, with annual expansion to other regions.

A $300,000 investment would be involved, the city manager pointed out.

Corey said he favored public hearings before any cable television system—public or private—is franchised or municipally developed.

He urged the public be informed "substantially" on what the city's involvement might be.

Merchants Seek Parking Assist

Minibike Discourse

Rare DC Split, License Given

A simple business license which had been hanging for the past several weeks was finally passed in a rare split vote of the Daly City council Monday.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyce's vote, cast in favor of granting the license to operate a mini-bike sales and repair shop at 7033 Mission Street, broke the deadlock.

Both councilmen Frank Pacelli and Edward J. Kennis had stood stiff after voting to deny the license.

But councilmen Tony Giannone and Michael DeBernardi voted approval after city attorney Albert Polonsky informed the council there were other firms selling these small motor bikes in the city and they could not deny the license on the reasons expressed previously—safety to the operator and the fear they would be operated on the streets by underage children.

The subject of safety and operation of the minibikes and go-carts falls into the law enforcement category, Polonsky explained.

Councilman DeBernardi asked Polonsky if Daly City could rightfully pass an ordinance outlawing the vehicles from city streets.

The answer was "no."

An angered councilman Dennis, after failing to get support on a motion to deny approval, informed his fellow councilmen:

"I take a strong position on this because of the serious injuries to young children reported in the past."

"Anything I can do to save a life, or keep a youth from being injured, I will do," Dennis said.

Pacelli said the city "needs stronger regulations" on the operation and sales of mini-bikes.

Big Decline In Patrons On Mission

By FRANK LAPIERRE

A group of Mission Street merchants told the Daly City Council Monday that some 26 stores have closed their doors in recent months because of a lack of customers, and the situation is growing more desperate daily.

They blame the drastic decline in business on the lack of adequate and easily-accessible parking and asked for emergency relief in this area before more merchants are forced to vacate.

Tavern owner Vince Merlo, spokesman for the merchants group, informed the council the problem has been studied for several months and they were prepared to work with the city on alleviating the traffic problem along the heavily-traveled thoroughfare.

Merlo explained that present parking lots are located too far from the street, and in at least one case, prospective customers must walk up hill "quite a way" after parking their cars.

According to the plans handed over to City Engineer Art Reschke by the businessmen, one-way streets (along Wellington and Hillcrest) would allow additional parking if the spaces were changed from parallel to diagonal.

As additional funds become available, lots along Mission could be purchased and converted to parking, Merlo said.

Similar parking problems existed in San Leandro and were solved by proper traffic planning, Merlo told the council.

"And now that the city gets about $17,000 per month (in business) for each parking slot," he said.

If sales improve in the Mission Street area, revenues to the city from sales, taxes and assessed valuations will increase, Merlo told the council.

Merlo said that when the parking meters were installed along the street, merchants were told monies from both the (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

Systematic Withdraws Branch Plan

A controversial variance application filed by Systematic Savings and Loan Association, and scheduled to come before the Daly City Planning Commission last night, was withdrawn at the last minute.

Spokesman for the influential Westlake Improvement Association said more than 300 homeowners in the area had been prepared to oppose the application.

Systematic Savings had proposed construction of a four-man office building with off-street parking at One Cliffside Drive.

The area is zoned R-1.

Last week, about 30 angry Westlake residents jammed the Association's meeting hall demanding the company withdraw their application.

John Wuerthner, of Systematic Savings, met with the group in the hope of explaining his company's stand on the matter, but Hartley Appleton, former Association attorney, vowed to carry the matter into court if the variance was granted.

Appleton said the office and parking lot violated restrictions of the area.

Road Repairs In Broadmoor

A $22,647 contract to resurface a series of streets in Broadmoor Village was awarded to the Lowrie Paving company of South San Francisco, the lowest of four bidders, May 6 by the county board of supervisors.

According to County Engineer Don S. Wilson, the project will complete a four-year project to improve all streets in the Village. Streets to be resurfaced, he said, are Bradley, Beechwood, Thornhill, MacArthur and Foot-hill drives and Midway Avenue.

Jeff High Board Wants the 'Say' On 'Sensitivity'

surveyed his faculty on the subject, Martin asserted:

"I feel confident that none of our faculty members have had anything but brief personal experience as members of either 'encounter groups' or 'T-Groups'."

The "encounter groups" and "T-Groups" Martin mentioned were terms taken from a Channel 9 film documentation, he said.

Morgan, in his reply "concluded" with both Brownstone and Martin, adding that he could not determine the "goals" of the teachers reportedly involved in sensitivity at Serramonte, "inasmuch as the teachers have not followed this district's rules and regulations which require 'new methods' to be submitted through established channels."

The superintendent also disclosed that "no request has ever reached my desk that I request board approval on 'sensitivity techniques'."

Trustee Milton, gaining clarification from Morgan that any "sensitivity training" at Serramonte or other schools had not been funneled "through established channels," declared, "In view of that information, gentlemen, I'd like to make a motion that any sensitivity program cease and desist."

The motion wrought loud applause from a group of 40-plus parents seated in the center section of the City Council Chambers, in which the trustees were meeting.

He added, "Until they do go through proper channels and are either approved or disapproved."

Morgan explained, "If I understand Mr. Milton's motion correctly, he is not passing judgement at this time in relation to the matter of sensitivity programs, but is merely directing my office and staff's attention to the fact that the district has very well and carefully developed plans from the standpoint of channels of communication (and that) when deemed appropriate and ready (it) can be presented to the board for its deliberation and a determination on whether or not this is the kind of thing this district would approve of."

Trustee James Cooper wanted to know:

"It will come before the board?"

Morgan replied, "That is correct."

"That would take care of all new subjects, too?" asked

Board Chairman Edward Solomon.

"Yes," said Morgan. "The law is very specific in relation to the fact that boards must approve a course of study; all curriculum matters must be presented to the board of approval or to be approved or rejected."

Alex Fraser, president of the Jefferson Union High School District Teachers Association, but speaking as a "concerned citizen and teacher," expressed his fear, "We are engaging in a kind of fantasy here, really, as we who are connected with bureaucracy tend to do."

He said, "I think we're trying to make an exception to a rule, because if I understand what Mr. Morgan is saying here—again I say I have nothing against ceasing and desisting of sensitivity training—it would seem to me that half of the methods, a good portion of the methods used by teachers in this district would fall in the same category as sensitivity training."

Fraser said he had seen no directives on submission of methods to department heads, principals, etc.

"Are we going to prescribe every method used by teachers in this district?" he asked. "If so," Fraser continued, "We run the risk of stifling the teaching expertise in the district."

He added, "If, on the other hand, we say nothing further of study and methods, who is to say what teacher might be singled out by a parent or by someone else for using a particular method that has not been approved by this imaginary group here, who is working on paper to approve all sorts of methods?"

Milton's response was that he "understood" Fraser's fear, "but if a science teacher decided to demonstrate Newton's theory of gravity by dropping a sophomore out of a third-story window, I would challenge the method."

There was applause again from the center section of the audience; silence from left and right sections, where some teachers and students apparently opposed to the board views were sitting.

Morgan said he didn't agree with Fraser, "in the relation to the aspect of fantasy."

He further noted, "I would be deeply concerned if his statement about half the teachers in this district were true."

Morgan also explained his viewpoint on Fraser's statement, regarding possible "singling out" of teachers.

"I think this is one of the things all of us who work with the public must be able to understand... We actually work for the parents... and if a parent raised a question concerning methods of a teacher, the superintendent, and I know this board, would consider that point very serious."

Westmoor student Jim Muslewski objected to Milton's likening sensitivity to the third-story window gravity test, then said:

"But I came up here to say one basic thing: I was sort of shocked by the response from the audience (center section). I feel that probably most of those people applauding have only the vague, biased idea of what sensitivity training is, and I feel that before they jump to any conclusions they should seek out all of the facts."

Now, there was applause from both right and left sections of the room.

Another student, a girl, explained that "sensitivity in the beginning is only sitting and talking—coffee, clatching is part of sensitivity; other things that go on from that, if you want that, you can have it."

She sought to learn what the board members thought "sensitivity" is, and Milton explained the basis of his motion "is to find out what really is going on" and that when the "board doesn't know a thing, this is the only way in which you can find out."

A Possible Jump In Sewer Fee

arrangement over the objections of some residents of the city, notably members of C.O.S.T. (Citizens Against the Sewer Tax), who object to the fact that the Daly City users will be getting the service at a lower rate than Pacifica residents when such expenditures as capital outlay are taken into consideration.

However, three separate reports prepared by engineers from Daly City and Pacifica and an independent firm, recommended the agreement as "feasible" for all parties.

The users' fees collected from the Daly City residents by Pacifica will be "almost pure profit" since the coastside city already has the facilities in operation to handle the additional volume.

"The only added cost to Pacifica will be that of additional chlorine needed for treatment," Mayor Gust said.

By hooking onto the Pacifica sewer system, Daly City homeowners will avoid the expense of force-pumping sewerage from the affected area the sewer treatment plant at Lake Merced.

A "natural flow" exists from the Westlake 11 and 12 neighborhood to the Pacifica treatment plant.

The agreement must be approved by directors of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District Board of Directors, which is headed by Daly City Councilman Francis P. Pacelli.

Underground Power Line, Pacifica Says

of obtaining the additional allocation for steel poles.

The question of undergrounding arose after City Attorney John Sherman pointed out that a new high-voltage line between Brisbane and San Mateo is being placed underground.

Company officials said this undergrounding project is being undertaken "for the company's benefit."

"All our existing transmission lines along this route are strung on the same poles adjacent to San Francisco International Airport," Burton said.

"One plane crash could wipe out the entire system, and that is why the new line is being placed underground."

State regulations do not require that high-voltage transmission lines be undergrounded, "even in new subdivisions," the company spokesmen said, "and it is not done anywhere except in areas of intense population density, such as downtown San Francisco."

The PG&E spokesmen expressed doubt that the city can actually block construction of the proposed system, since such matters are ultimately under the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission.

The proposed transmission lines would connect substations in Pacifica and Half Moon Bay, and serve as a "major source of power" for the coastside area.

Rumble On Pilot Study

strict committee established to study the grouping issue, and, as such, is a "consultant" to the negotiating council.

District Supt. Dr. Paul Nielsen suggested two weeks ago that Meek's appearing before the Intergroup Relations Commission to speak on the subject of grouping might constitute a "conflict of interest," since he is also serving in the capacity of a district consultant.

However, California Teachers' Association Attorney Peter Gallano and representatives from the district attorney's office have reviewed the matter and agreed that "there is no conflict of interest involved," according to Meek, and he will appear before Reverend Viera's commission Thursday.

Meek said he intends to "present the facts, in an objective, informational report" and hopefully will not be engaged in a "debate" on the advantages or disadvantages of the various systems of grouping.

Privately, however, he is known to favor leaving the matter of grouping in the hands of individual teachers.

"I am dubious of the criteria used in assigning children to the achievement groups," he said this week.

"We know that Spanish-speaking children and others with language and environmental handicaps tend to score lower on the standard reading and intelligence tests."

"I personally feel the teacher in the classroom can make a better decision in determining a student's ability to progress."

A staff report and presentation on the pilot studies now in progress at Martin, Spruce and Ponderosa Schools and a survey on the entire six-year history of grouping in the district will be presented to the board of trustees early this summer, according to a district statement recently released.

"After studying the pilot program results, the staff will review the present policy on grouping," the statement says.

At Spruce School, teachers are involved in the second year of a program of "cluster grouping," a form of "planned, heterogeneous grouping with children assigned by reading groups to each class."

Under this system, each teacher has a fast-achieving, average and below average group.

The staff at Martin School is in the first year of a "planned heterogeneous grouping" system.

Under this system, assignment to classes is done individually, with each other having fast, average and below-average achievers in the same room.

The major concerns under study in this program involve peer relationships and self-concept.

timating parking problems in the city.

He was informed by Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyett that Daly City already had a traffic committee.

Councilman Frank Pacelli said he had studied the situation on Mission Street for many years and indicated there had been "some resistance" to his parking plans by certain landowners of the area—especially when he explained to them the best way to tackle the problem was to form an assessment district.

Another Mission Street merchant, Tom Stanghellini, saw the need for a city-wide parking commission to study problems not only along Mission Street, but also in the Geneva and Junipero Serra Boulevard areas.

Stanghellini suggested more parking meters be installed on streets surrounding Mission.

"This council knows the problems along Mission and we will cooperate with you," Dennis said.

The matter will be studied and the city will meet with a delegation from the association next week, Mayor Lyett said.

Aviation Appreciation Week Observance in San Bruno

decision as to the winner of the Miss San Bruno title.

City councilman George Corey will serve as master of ceremonies for the contest.

Public introductory flights have been scheduled by Golden Pacific Airlines for Saturday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The flights will leave from the Central Terminal at San Francisco International Airport every half hour. Tickets for the flights are on sale now at the Chamber of Commerce office at $5 each.

The flights will be aboard a new Golden Pacific Beech 99 turbo-prop airplane, one of six new 15-passenger aircraft serving Golden Pacific's 16-city Northern California and Nevada route system.

Saturday will also be the beginning of four airport facilities tours sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The FAA airport control tower will be the first "open house" on that date between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Last year over 400 persons toured the control tower. Appointments for individual tours during the week can also be made by calling the FAA airport tower office.

The Pan American World Airways flight training center will be open to the public May 20 from 6 to 8 p.m. Several demonstrations are scheduled, including a look at the newest piece of aircraft passenger loading equipment being tested by Pan Am for the first Boeing 747 jetliner. The mobile passenger loading vehicle has an upper and lower passenger lobby, an elevator, and passenger bus loading dock all built into one.

Final open house tour on the Chamber's schedule is the United Air Lines engineering and maintenance base. The huge airline facility is home port of the world's largest commercial jet fleet. The tour is scheduled for May 22, 7 to 8:30 p.m. Week-day tours through the base can also be arranged for 10 a.m. or 2 p.m. by calling United's visitor service office.

The tours are free and open to the public.

Capping off the eventful "Aviation Appreciation Week" program will be the annual Aviation Banquet at Green Hills Country Club, May 23. Samuel T. Lowry, an official of the Boeing Company in Seattle, Wash., will be the guest speaker. Lowry will make a presentation on the development of the Boeing 747, first of the "jumbo jets," which will fly into San Francisco International Airport around the first of the year.

The Chamber of Commerce annual program is under the guidance this year of Aviation Committee Chairman Lloyd Ghiselli, manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company of San Bruno.

Library Set For Skyline

A 2,800-square-foot relocatable building will be leased as a temporary library reading room at Skyline College, opening next September in San Bruno.

Other library facilities, according to Skyline President Philip C. Garlington, will be housed on the first floor of the administration wing of the fine arts center until a permanent library can be constructed.

Skyline's dean of instruction, David D. White, hopes that project can be completed by 1971, if necessary funds become available from state and local sources.

The relocatable reading room will have study stations for nearly 200 students.

San Mateo Junior College District trustees have approved leasing the building, on an annual basis of $6,467, from Space Corporation.

Victim Of Overdose Improving

The 23-year-old victim of an apparent overdose of drugs was transferred from Mary's Help Hospital to San Mateo County General today after showing some signs of improvement.

Robert Gargett, 23, had been on the hospital's critical list since being dropped off by three hippies last week.

For a week he hovered near death in the hospital's intensive care ward.

How much of the drug—believed to be seconal pills—Gargett swallowed, or why, was still in question today and Daly City police are continuing their search for the trio who dumped Gargett off at the hospital.

Teachers 'Substantiate' Remedial Staffing Need

Computations substantiate a Jefferson High School faculty committee's claim it needs additional remedial reading teachers, according to the principal of the Daly City school.

Principal Ed Cereghino in a memorandum to Dist. Supt. Ed Morgan and Asst. Supt. Glenn South said, "Computations indicate a need for 9.1 additional remedial teachers."

In an earlier request, Cereghino, on behalf of the special committee, explained to Jefferson High School District officials that "over fifty per cent" of Jefferson's incoming freshmen would be reading only at the fifth-grade level.

Superintendent Morgan previously had admitted the reading deficiency claim "appears valid," but he insisted upon substantiation.

The faculty committee's report noted, "We know that economic deprivation and poor school performances are related. We know that the schools are by their very nature biased against the poor and the non-white."

A December, 1968 SCAT test, the basis for allocation of additional resources by district formula: Number tested, 377; number below 30 percentile, 164; percentage, 43.2.

A comparison with September, 1968: Number tested, 420; number below 30 percentile, 178; percentage, 42.4.

The results do not change for the class of 1971, the report asserts: Number tested, 398; number below 30 percentile, 178; percentage, 44.7.

percentage, 45. The class of 1970: Number tested, 455; number below 30 percentile, 201; percentage, 44.2.

It is clear, the report declares, "That the students at Jefferson suffer from a 'verbal disability' relative to others in the district, the county, the state and the nation."

Additionally, the unit estimates "that between 45 and 50 per cent of next year's freshmen and sophomores will be below the thirtieth percentile."

Using actual data and projections based on drop-outs, the faculty committee has found "40.5 per cent of the school below the thirtieth percentile."

The committee declared: "Teachers, administrators and counselors at Jefferson High School have long contended that it is a special school deserving of special treatment in the allocation of district resources."

"Essentially, the rationale for this request has hinged on facts: Jefferson serves an area which is economically deprived and is a population of very diverse ethnic and racial backgrounds, which is in the process of changing to include more and more Negro and Latin American people."

"These two groups are reasoned to have special educational problems by virtue of the generalized color consciousness of this nation which has led to discrimination and deprivation and, in the case of many Latin Americans, a vast cultural gap between life in the United States and life in their country of origin."

WILLIAM POWERS

Bill Powers SF Delegate To Assembly

William Powers, elder of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church of Daly City, is a Commissioner to General Assembly from the Presbytery of San Francisco.

The General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. is now holding its annual ten-day meeting at San Antonio, Texas. Powers is one of five laymen and five minister commissioners from the 81 congregations of the San Francisco Bay Area.

He will join with 900 other commissioners from all over the United States and the world to consider, discuss and vote the policy and program of the Presbyterian denomination.

Thousands of others will view the proceedings held at the convention center in San Antonio. The General Assembly concludes on May 22.

Powers is one of 15 elders on the local church who, with the pastor, Rev. Herbert Tweedie, constitute the Session, the governing body of the congregation.

Powers has been an attendant at the monthly meetings of the Presbytery of San Francisco, is chairman of the local worship committee in which he is also head usher, has been an officer in the Mariners for couples, headed the men's activities and has served on other committees.

In private business life he is a roofing contractor. He will report concerning his experiences at the two worship services at 9:30 and 11 a.m., June 1.

'Oneness' Is Westside's Sermon Topic

Fifteen age-graded, Bible centered classes meet each Sunday morning at 9:45 a.m. at the Westside Baptist Sunday School, Inverness Drive and Hickey Boulevard (Fairmont), Pacifica.

There also are three adult classes plus classes from three year olds through college.

"Maintaining Oneness" is the topic for the 11 a.m. worship hour, May 18, chosen by Pastor A. David Donnelly. This is another message from the book of Ephesians. Special music for this service will be a vocal solo by Per Hillerstrom.

During the adult worship hour, a church service for boys and girls four through seven years of age is conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Phil Dershe.

Spot Fire Then Pot

A hippie haven near Pacifica caught fire yesterday, leading firemen to the discovery of a thriving agricultural enterprise — a clandestine pot farm.

Deputy Sheriff John Hammarstrom said a search of the area after the fire was doused revealed several garden plots of marijuana plants scattered over an acre, plus other specimens of cannabis sativa growing in clay pots, ceramic planters and wooden boxes.

Two of the larger plots had 19 and 24 marijuana plants in them. More than 20 additional plants were found in pots, boxes and planters.

First discovery of the marijuana was made by State Forester Frank B. Lewis, who had gone to the scene to investigate the fire, which was put out by Pacifica firemen.

Hammarstrom said the fire destroyed a crude 9-foot by 9-foot structure made out of boards and eucalyptus branches. The shack was located some 60 feet east of Cabrillo Highway in a grove of pine and underbrush and could not be seen from the road. The location was about a mile south of the Pacifica city limits, the deputy said.

Kitchenware and a stove pipe were found in the debris, Hammarstrom said, indicating the possible source of the fire.

Lewis said that more than 100 of the illicit plants were found in all. All were small, ranging in size from 1 inch to 8 inches, indicating that the entrepreneurs were just getting started with the projects, the forester said.

11 Birthdays To Be Feted At Services

Sabbath services at Congregation B'nai Israel on Friday will be in honor of those Sunday School children celebrating their birthdays in May.

Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Henry Greenberg will conduct the services that begin at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi Shore's sermon topic will be "The Positive Benefits of Jewish Camping."

Participating in Birthday Sabbath will be Janette Benson, Gail Claffield, Charles Fisher, Karen Friedberg, Larry Fuhs, Karen Kaufman, Michael Lemesh, Stella Marcus, Michael Ross, Larry Stein and Esther Tiefenthal. The children will be further honored at the Oneg Shabbat following the service.

Members of the junior group of Hashachar youth organization, meeting at Congregation B'nai Israel, will participate in a Juniors Day on Sunday at Sigmond Stern Grove. Juniors from the Bay Area will meet from 10 a.m. till 4 p.m. Advisors from B'nai Israel are Mrs. Stanley Fisher, Dr. Martin Lemesh and Wolf Schlesinger.

THE POST
Wednesday, May 14, 1969

NEW Serramonte Music Center was opened May 1, with City Clerk Anna Ohlendorf of the city of Daly City and Elio Fontana, chamber of commerce president, joining in ribbon cutting event with owner Robert Morford.

The 'Diary Of Anne Frank' Seacliff Play

The Seacliff Players will present "The Diary of Anne Frank" May 18 at 7 p.m. in the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church on 87th Street and May 25 at 7 p.m. at Westlake Lutheran, Avalon Drive and Westmoor.

The play is based upon the book, "Anne Frank: Diary of a Young Girl" and is produced by arrangement with Dramatists Play Service.

The setting is a secret attic hideaway in Amsterdam, during World War II.

The cast: Otto Frank, George Pettingell; Miep, Miriam Cadelina; Mrs. Van Daan, Barbara Disque; Mrs. Van Daan, Ted Valoria; Peter Van Daan, Mike Duden; Margot Frank, Cheryl Edgerton; Mr. Kraler, Lemmy Llapitan; Edith Frank, Betty Tofy; Anne Frank, Cheryl McKibbin; Mrs. Dussel, Don Gemmet.

The director is George Pettingell; stage manager is Sheryl Buttolph.

Admission is free. A free-will offering will be taken.

D.C. Officials Take Part In Music Center Opening

The new Serramonte Music Center was opened on May 1 with a blast of music from the Westmoor-Serramonte Concert Band, under the direction of Howard Loeffler, music director of Westmoor High School.

The band opened with "Hey, Look Me Over," and then continued playing for an hour, to the delight of the crowd present for the opening.

The owner of the new store, Robert Morford, owner of the Westlake Music Store, had help with the ribbon cutting from Elio Fontana, president of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Elmer Ohlendorf, City Clerk of Daly City.

Mrs. Morford, their daughter Louanne, her husband Pete Heath, who is associated with Morford in the store, and Calvin Morford, Robert Morford's 83-year-old father were present for the ceremonies.

Six Chosen

Six San Mateo County residents were among 23 Bay Area people chosen for the new Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco last week.

They are Thomas R. Harton, 592 Fremont Avenue, Pacifica; Mary J. Maas, 352 Bay Road, Menlo Park; Harold W. Norton, 3041 Oakmont Drive, San Bruno; Henry Pestoni, 1817 Redwood Avenue, Redwood City; Jack Robinson, 1411 Huron Avenue, San Mateo; George A. Rollins, 2081 Whitman Way, San Bruno.

Another DC Station 'Threat' By Bart

The Bay Area Rapid Transit Board of Directors Thursday renewed the threat to cut the Mission Street rapid transit line short of Daly City unless quick action was taken to settle the current dispute over station design.

They said a "communications breakdown" has existed between BARTD and Daly City for the past year on construction of the terminus station.

President Arnold Anderson said Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett has not answered his letter of two weeks ago inviting Lycett to discuss the matter with BARTD.

And Daly City has yet to reply to a similar letter sent last December which asked for a joint meeting between Daly City officials and BARTD's Engineering Committee, Anderson said.

Actually, the December letter was a financial explanation as to why BARTD could not comply with eight requests concerning station design, traffic routing around the proposed station and maintenance of certain signal lights.

Lycett said the December letter required no answer because it was more an ultimatum than a request. It merely answered the eight points by explaining why each could not be accomplished.

Asked if it were true the city refused to answer the latest missile from BARTD, Mayor Lycett emphatically denied BARTD's allegations.

"As a matter-of-fact, I answered Anderson's letter early in the week (May 7) informing him that I would discuss agreements between BARTD and the city council at our next study session on May 19."

The mayor said he would then advise Anderson of the city's stand after the meeting.

EVERT TERMINELLO

Man Is Jailed On Drug Count

Robert Bellan, 24, 9 Midvale, Daly City, was arrested by Daly City police Thursday morning, charged with driving under the influence of a dangerous drug.

A passenger, Richard Anderson, 22, 137 St. Francis, Daly City, was jailed on a charge of being drunk in public.

A patrolman stopped the Bellan car at 1:44 a.m., assertedly after observing the vehicle weaving near Eastmore and Mirada Avenues.

The authorities charged that Bellan was under the influence of a drug, Seconal.

Terminello Quits Bank Post In D.C.

Evert Terminello, longtime president of the First National Bank of Daly City, suddenly resigned his post Thursday afternoon.

The resignation was effective immediately, a spokesman for the bank said.

No immediate reason was made public concerning Terminello's unexpected action, however, some employees of the Mission Street branch of the bank said the move came as "no surprise."

They refused to elaborate. Terminello joined the organization in 1963 and rose through various positions to the post of president of the three banking facility in 1966.

The bank's board of directors immediately named Ricco Lagamasino interim president and Ernest Kuehler, associated with the bank since 1964, executive president.

Two new directors were also appointed: William J. Sweeney Jr., Daly City businessman, and Romalo Ariani, a local attorney.

11 Compete for 'Miss Industrial City' Title

Eleven contestants will compete for the title of "Miss Industrial City" and more than $1,200 in prizes and scholarships May 17 in South San Francisco's El Camino High School Little Theater.

Pageant director Dolly Schumacher said David McClennen, a veteran performer for pageants throughout the state, will serve as master of ceremonies for the Saturday night affair.

Area residents will have an opportunity to view the young ladies this Saturday as they tour South San Francisco's shopping centers in a parade scheduled to begin at Winston Manor at 1 p.m.

The girls will be escorted by U. S. Marine volunteers, and each contestant will ride in a separate convertible. Entrants are Lori Hannigan, Karen Weman, Julie Furgeson, Bonnie MacBird, Marty Skrifvars, Cherri Lloyd, Mary Hefner, Michele Catanzaro, Deena Zinn, Linda Santiago and Tami Silva.

Each of the contestants will compete in the evening gown, swim suit and talent divisions in the pageant, which begins at 8 p.m.

The winner will be eligible to enter the "Miss San Mateo County" pageant next year, a preliminary for the "Miss America" pageant at Atlantic City.

Back-to-Back Outings

Cub Scout Pack 282 recently had two back-to-back well-attended outings.

The first, to the Coast Guard Air Station was arranged by the Tamburini and Leek families. The Cubs learned a great deal about the Coast Guard responsibilities and got a first-hand look at the flying boats used in air-sea rescue work. They also saw a helicopter designed to land in water and a film which illustrated all the different phases of Coast Guard rescue services.

Among the 23 Cubs enjoying the outing were Randy Won, Tony Burgos, Jimmy Craig, Andre Dews, Douglas Leek, Vince Rosano, Jeffrey Tong, Karl and Glen Young, Paul DeLucchi, Mark Treftz, David and Rob Bergero, Steve Hendricks, John and Pierre Marestin, Anthony Tamburini, Mike and Pat Bryan, Steve Graves, Robbie Flynn, Chipper Vickers, and David Zyski. Webelos Leaders Don Zyski and Tom Graves, Cubmaster Jim Vickers, Den Mothers Alice Burgos, Hope Morris and Gayle Vickers were among the 14 parents who accompanied the Cubs.

On the Thursday during Easter vacation the Pack was on the move again, this time to the Presidio. Den Mothers Alice Burgos, Hope Morris, Jeanette Marestin and Gale Vickers and Jackie Drago and Carol Leek accompanied the Cubs. The boys were led on the tour by Sergeant Adams, who explained the history of the Presidio, the cannons around Pershing Square and took them through the Officers Club which still had some of the original adobe bricks used in its walls.

The group, which included John Drago, Randy Won, Tony Burgos, Jimmy Craig, Doug Leek, Karl and Glen Young, Dino Cardarelli, Danny Hale, Jack Malman, John Olari, Christopher Morris, Mark Treftz, David and Rob Bergero, Michael Driscoll, Steve Hendricks, John and Pierre Marestin, Anthony Tamburini, Pat and Mike Bryan, Mark Kilpelt and Chipper Vickers, then boarded a bus for a look at Ft. Point, which was closed because of sand-blasting on the Golden Gate Bridge.

After the tour the group went to the Palace of Fine Arts Lagoon for lunch.

Sets Carnival For May 24th

The San Mateo YWCA Nursery has set May 24 for its carnival at the Westmoor Park Clubhouse, 123 Edgemont Drive, Daly City, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Durinda Kelley, supervisor of the nursery, said there will be a clown with balloons and a bake sale.

Proceeds from this carnival will buy new outdoor and indoor equipment that is greatly needed by the nursery.

Dakin & Co., 60 Park Lane, Brisbane, has donated 9 1/2 dozen Betsy Dolls, Musical Mice and other stuffed toys, to be used as prizes.

Fund-Raising Event Friday To Help Band

Someone will win a free color television console at 8 p.m. on Friday, at Skyline Shopping Center, according to a spokesman for Westmoor Music Boosters, the organization sponsoring the current drive to "Send the Band to Disneyland" on May 24.

Tickets will be available in the mall just before the drawing and can be obtained in exchange for a $1 donation to the drive.

Robert Morford of Westlake Music Center has been selected to draw the winning ticket, as a tribute to his support of the music program over the years and to the friendship and encouragement he has given all its students.

Although the drive reportedly is going along well, funds are still short of the amount required to make the trip. Anyone wishing to help may get additional information from Mrs. Richard Kingery or send donations to Westmoor Music Boosters at 924 Southgate.

SSF Scouts Stage Court Of Honor

The first Court of Awards of South San Francisco Cadette Girl Scout Troop 153 was held recently in the social hall of St. Paul's Methodist Church.

One year pins and the good grooming proficiency badges were awarded to Le Ann James, Cheryl Green, Melody Hutcheson, Deborah Osbourn and Debby Ann Castro. Also receiving the good grooming badge were Sherri Revo, Kathy Tanaka, Mary Wieler, Noreen Post, Jill Atkinson, Andrea Catron and Edith Berg Deborah Osbourn also received badges for child care, rock and mineral and swimmer.

Lillian Speight was welcomed in the troop and presented the Girl Scout pin and the Troop Crest. Assistant leader Mrs. Dave Kinet was introduced to the gathering and presented her Girl Scout pin.

Past patrol leaders Cheryl Green and Deborah Osbourn turned the leaders' cords over to Noreen Post and Kathy Tanaka as new patrol leaders.

Entertainment for the evening was presented by Sue Oowery and Kathy Viall as "Hansel and Gretel." A "laugh-in" number was also staged by Jill Atkinson, Edith Berg, Debby Ann Castro, Andrea Catron, Cheryl Green, Melody Hutcheson, Le Ann James, Deborah Osbourn, Noreen Post, Sherri Revo, Kathy Tanaka and Mary Wieler.

DERBY WINNER
Fred Pratt's entry won the Pinewood Derby staged by Daly City Park 248, with David Kuns' car a close second. "Best designed" car award went to Ken Carrillo's entry.

A Wedding Date Set

A September 6 wedding at St. Veronica's Catholic Church has been planned by Janice Ellen Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones of South San Francisco, and Mark Allen Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooper of South San Francisco.

Janice is a junior at the University of the Pacific where she is a speech therapy major.

Serramonte High

Class of 1971 rings for Serramonte High School's first graduating class went on sale yesterday for students with last names beginning with A-M and May 14 for students whose last names begin with N-Z.

To order one of the three ring sizes—either gold or silver plated—it will be necessary to present a $10 deposit to Herff Jones Company, the ring designers who sketched the ideas stated by the Executive Board and the ring manufacturers.

Three initials will be monogrammed on the ring back at no extra cost.

Three views of the ring design are posted in the Serramonte office on Westmoor campus, room 8.

Prices range from $23.95 to $25.95 to $29.95 for the gold plated different sizes and $5.95 less for each ring plated in silver.

Those who order their rings on May 13 or May 14 should receive them in September or October.

It will be possible for students who do not order rings this year to order them sometime next year.

From the sale of See's suckers, the Serramonte student body treasury has been boosted by $22.21, augmenting other earnings.

Since this has been so effective, the sales will continue one day per week as long as the demand continues to exist.

Some 15 Oceana students arrived at Serramonte to give orientation explanations in preparation for Serramonte's observations of modular scheduling on May 13, 14, 15, 20, 21, and 22, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Approximately one-half of Serramonte's student body will go to Oceana to observe it in action. Thus, the orientation arranged by Tom Mohr, director of student activities at Oceana, was beneficial, since it was presented by students with their points of view.

As a sample schedule was analyzed and explained, topics such as the time allotments of modular scheduling, homeroom, differences from the standard school system to modular scheduling, activities during "free time," regular school activities, the high rate of flunk-outs who fail to utilize their time efficiently, and closed campus, were discussed.

Serramonte will be adopting some ideas already in effect at Oceana. Thus, the cross-section of Serramonte students visiting Oceana will gain a more complete concept of how the system actually works and its advantages and disadvantages first hand.

IT WAS LADIES' Day at the Daly City Rotary Club meeting when this picture was taken. The "fairer sex," as a Rotarian put it, "took over and ran the meeting for the day." Among those who took the opportunity to show "how it's done" were Mrs. Max Kurtz, Mrs. Bernard Lycett, Mrs. Don Davis, Mrs. Ed Morgan, Mrs. Al Belotz, Mrs. Stan Cohen, Mrs. Paul Hupf, Mrs. Solly Orloff, Mrs. Vin Stratton and Mrs. Jack Kendree.

Church Mothers, Daughters To Assemble for a Banquet

"What's Your Line?" will be the theme of the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet to be presented by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the San Bruno Community Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the church social hall.

A representative of McCall's Patterns will speak on "Color and Line for Girls and Women" and will demonstrate her topic with mannequins and fabric. Mrs. E. A. Sandberg, general chairman, will introduce the speaker.

Mrs. William Tandy will give the devotions, and Mrs. Charles Wright, banquet chairman, has announced that the Men's Club of the church will cater and serve the chicken dinner.

The hobbies of members will be on display in the hall, and Mrs. Victory Schisler used hobbies on the program cover she designed. Mrs. Vernon Alley, decorations, will follow the hobby theme.

Entertainment will include an instrumental number by Rita Zahorsky and a dance routine by Teri Wright. Mrs. Frank Sheets, president, or Mrs. Don Atwood, may be contacted for tickets. Mrs. William Winder will recognize the oldest and youngest mothers and the mother with the youngest daughter present, and Mrs. George Larson is handling publicity.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Plyer of Daly City will be the host and hostess when Mrs. Plyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio P. Casassa celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary.

The entire wedding party will be on hand to help the couple celebrate the important milestone in their married lives according to Mrs. Plyer who has thoroughly enjoyed gathering all the participants together for the event. The Casassas will receive the party guests in the Heritage Room of the Marine Memorial Club in San Francisco on May 31.

Among the wedding attendants will be Emile Ghirardelli, Mr. and Mrs. Chick Vattuone, Mr. and Mrs. John Leveroni and Mrs. John Schenone and Mrs. Thurston Journey, who was the flower girl at the wedding in Corpus Christi Church on June 2, 1928.

Others who will be on hand to help with the celebrating include Mrs. Casassa's sisters, Mrs. Phillip Shayer and Mrs. Anthony DeFerrari and her husband. Two of Casassa's sisters will be attending. They are Mrs. Anna Cheloni and Mrs. Rose Ragghianti.

Grandchildren, Julie Annie, 8, and David Anthony, 5, will have a share in the festivities.

A busy week ahead for the members of the Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica!

According to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, a jaunt to Reno is set for Thursday and Friday, May 22 and 23, and the members will be staying at the lovely new Pioneer Inn Hotel just a block and a half from the casinos.

Once home from Nevada the youthful seniors will don play clothes and set off, the very next day, for the annual Club Picnic to be held in Junipero Serra Park, just off Crystal Springs Road.

"B. J." and Marall Smith are the co-chairmen. Free parking has been arranged and the food will be provided.

Those planning to go are requested to forward one dollar to Lucille Rentmeester.

Frederick C. Erickson was the guest speaker when the members of the Art Guild of Pacifica met Monday evening in the Pacifica Library in Sharp Park.

Erickson, the home furnishing coordinator for Montgomery Ward discussed line, form, composition, color and texture, applied to interior design.

Mrs. Linda Treanor and Mrs. Inger Wallis were the evening's hostesses.

Mrs. Lillian Neathery will host the guild's executive board meeting in her home on May 26 at 8 p.m. Last weekend's Mother's Day Art Exhibit in the Fairmont Center will be discussed along with plans for the Belmont Art Fair and other upcoming events.

Just getting under way is a class by Marine artist Loi Wing. The Acrylic Workshop is being held in the Pacifica Library on Wednesdays between 7:30 and 10 p.m.

The classes will explore the versatility of acrylics and experiment with their use in conjunction with other media. Persons wishing more information about the class are asked to contact Mrs. Lucy Muir, 359-1089 any day after 11 a.m.

Members of the Holy Angel's Parish will present the annual Spring Festival and May Dance in the parish school play yard this Saturday from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m., according to word from Mrs. Joseph Gamina, wife of the project chairman.

The festival, now in its fifth year, is staged as a benefit for the Novitiate being built by the Sisters of the Holy Infant Jesus. The new facility, which will be in the Sleepy Hollow section of San Rafael, is an extension of the local order which now serves Holy Angel's and St. Veronica's parishes, here on the Peninsula, and one other parish in northern California.

The benefit is the result of the combined efforts of the children and parents of the Holy Angel's School, the Women's Guild, The Men's Club and the Italian Catholic Federation. Joseph Gamina is the chairman. Sister Helen, principal of the parish school, is the honorary chairman. Among those assisting will be Jerry Delfino and Ray Nightengale.

The May Dance will be held between 1 and 3 p.m. with students from various Irish Dancing schools presenting a special segment of Irish Folk Dances and classes from the Holy Angel's school doing traditional folk and square dances.

Games and refreshments will be available throughout the day and festival goers can dine on hot dogs, chili, popcorn or coffee and doughnuts, do some shopping at the homemakers booth or the grocery corner, buy some baked goods for Sunday, or play many of the games which will be set up for the entertainment of adults and children.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Plyer of Daly City will be the host and hostess when Mrs. Plyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio P. Casassa celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary.

North Countians Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Contreras of Colma have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandy, to Dennis P. Tuohy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Tuohy of Daly City.

The bride-elect and her fiancé both attended Westmoor High School, and he also studied at the City College of San Francisco. She is the sister of Alan and Gordon Contreras.

Dennis, an Air Force veteran, is the brother of Mrs. Patricia Anderson and John William Tuohy. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Gabhart.

They will be married June 7 at St. Emydius Church in San Francisco.

Churchwomen Planning Sale

The Women's Society of the South San Francisco First Lutheran Church will hold a three-day rummage sale with proceeds to benefit the Society's scholarship fund for young people entering college to prepare for fulltime churchwork.

The sales will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday. They will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday in church school classrooms.

A nursery will be provided for small children at 1:45 p.m.

Gremlins Steal Best Recipes

Good morning, good cooks.

This is, "What-in-the-world-did-I-do-with-that-recipe?" week. And the reason this week is being so designated is the sad fact that some gremlin sneaks into kitchens and steals favorite recipes. I know that this happens all the time to good cooks, not because they are careless, but rather to an evil plot by said gremlin. The plot being to drive us mad by sending us searching through drawers and books and behind cereal boxes for a missing recipe, causing us to waste valuable time that could be spent reading a novel and eating chocolates.

The latest victim of the plot is Mrs. Caroline Futrell, a neighbor of mine, who stopped to ask me to find a recipe for a tamale pie that she had used and enjoyed and lost. Carrie thinks she lost it, but you and I know that the recipe-grabbing-gremlin got it.

Checking through past columns I find two wonderful recipes for tamale dishes and think it's a good idea to share them both with all you good cooks. If you didn't try them way back when, now is your chance to make some really delicious entrees with a south-of-the-border flavor.

FIESTA TAMALE PIE

- 3 tbsp. olive oil
- 1 onion, small, minced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 pound pork sausage
- 1 can tomatoes, No. 2 1/2
- 1 can whole corn, No. 303
- 2 teas. salt
- 2 teas. chili powder
- 24 pitted ripe olives
- 1 cup cornmeal
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs well beaten
- 1 1/4 cups grated cheese

Heat the three tablespoons oil in frying pan and saute the minced onion and one clove minced garlic until golden. Add the one pound ground beef and half pound sausage and brown. Combine the one can tomatoes (broken up), the one can corn, two teaspoons each salt and chili powder in a saucepan and simmer for 20 minutes. Allow this mixture cool and combine with the meat.

Pour into a shallow casserole. 10x13x2 inches and press the olives into the top. The recipe calls for 24 olives, but use more or less as your taste dictates.

Combine the one cup cornmeal with the one cup milk and the two well beaten eggs and spread with a spoon over the filling. Sprinkle the one and one-half cups grated cheese over the top and bake in 350-degree oven about an hour or until cornmeal is baked.

You can prepare the meat mixture early in the day and add the corn meal just before baking. This batter is very thin but bakes up into a thick topping.

This is a very generous casserole and should serve eight, depending on how hungry your diners happen to be.

This loaf combines meat, vegetables and spices in a delicious mixture, is baked and then served with a rich mushroom sauce.

TAMALE LOAF

- 1 pound bottom ground, ground fine
- 1 can pitted black olives, medium size can
- 1 can whole kernel corn, No. 303
- 1 can solid-pack tomatoes, No. 2 1/2
- 2 cups raw cornmeal
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons chili powder (use less if your family prefers a milder dish)
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 1 onion, medium size, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons catsup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- Salt and pepper to taste

Combine the pound of meat with the can of pitted olives, corn, tomatoes (broken up) and the two cups cornmeal. Add the one-half cup olive oil, two tablespoons chili powder, two eggs. one cup milk, one chopped onion, one minced garlic, two tablespoons catsup and one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Salt and pepper to taste. Mix well.

It's great if your mixing bowl is one that can be used to bake in the oven. Then you just mix the ingredients and place in oven. Otherwise pour into a large casserole and bake very slowly, 325-degrees for an hour or until done.

Meantime make this delicious mushroom sauce.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 1/4 cup dried mushrooms
- 1 cup warm water
- 1 cup olive oil
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 2 garlic buds
- 1 large onion, shredded
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 cups tomatoes
- 1 can tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 whole cloves

Wash the dried mushrooms, cover with one cup warm water and let stand for 30 minutes. (You may use canned mushrooms, adding the liquid as you put them in the sauce. Or if you wish, use fresh mushrooms, sauteed in butter and add about a fourth cup water to the sauce.)

Heat the one-fourth cup olive oil in a skillet. Add the two whole garlic buds and one-fourth teaspoon black pepper. Cook until the garlic buds are brown. Discard the garlic buds and add the one onion, one teaspoon parsley, one teaspoon salt and one tablespoon sugar. Cook until the vegetables are wilted, but not brown.

Combine the two cups canned tomatoes, one can tomato sauce and one-half cup water. (Rinse out the tomato sauce can with this water. don't waste any of the delicious sauce. Add the one bay leaf and two whole cloves. Combine with the vegetable mixture and simmer about 20 minutes. Finally add the mushrooms and liquid and simmer 20 to 30 minutes longer, or until it reaches a good sauce consistency.

Serve over Tamale Loaf. Serves 8.

May is Senior Citizens Month; Meeting Plans are Outlined

The month of May has been proclaimed Senior Citizens Month by President Richard Nixon, Gov. Ronald Reagan and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke. A Senate-Assembly Concurrent Resolution designating May as Senior Citizens Month also was introduced by Senator Joseph M. Kennick and approved unanimously by the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California.

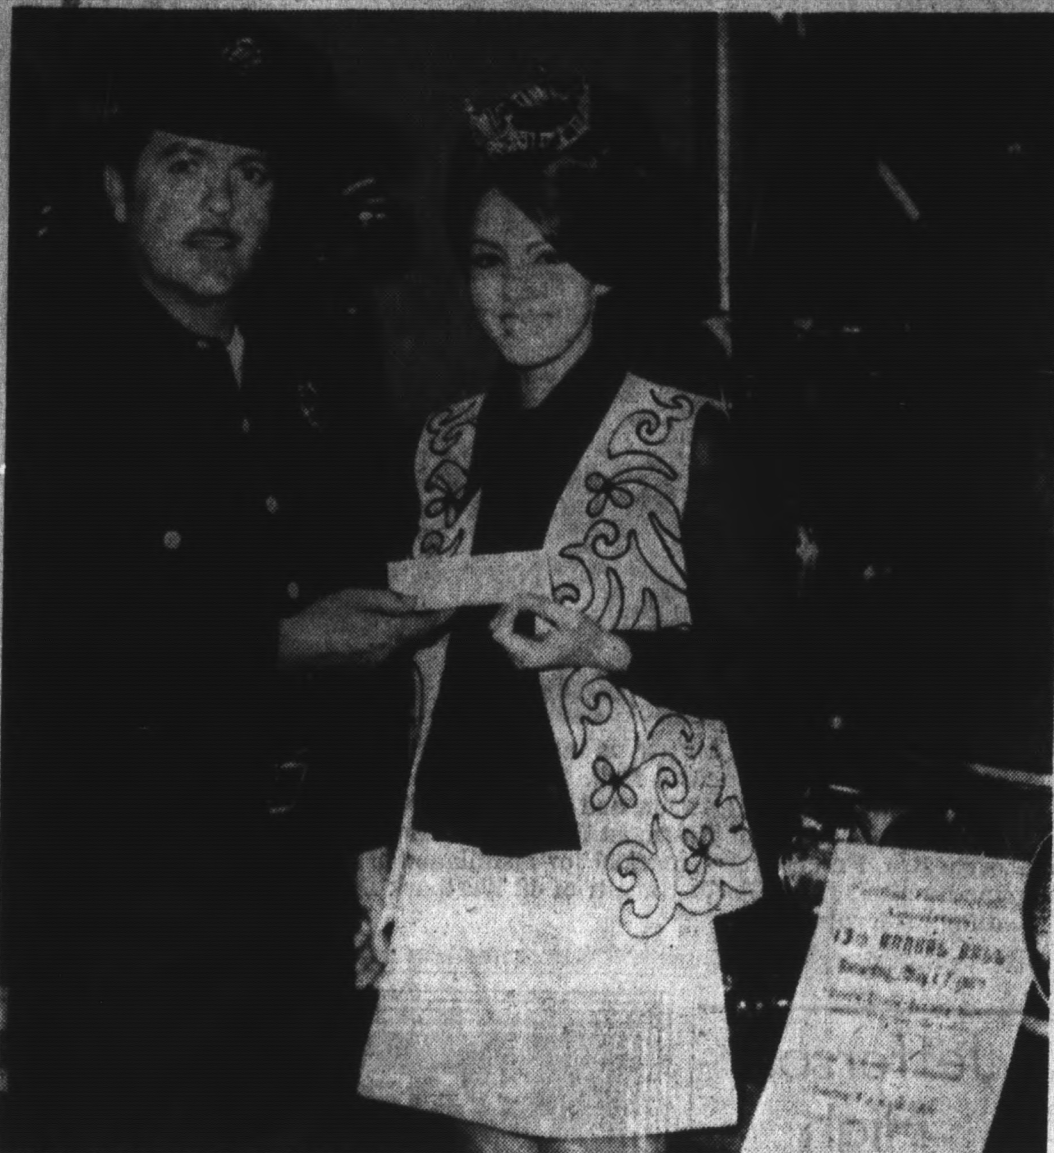

The California Commission on Aging urges cities, counties, private, and public groups, including Chambers of Commerce, service clubs, and churches to join in paying respect to nearly 2,000,000 Californians who are over 65.

The Daly City Senior Citizens Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, meets every Wednesday at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse, 901 Brunswick St., is open to persons 50 years of age or over.

The purpose of the club is to offer opportunities for citizens in educational, recreational and social activities. During the month of April, the Senior Citizens took a trip to Sonoma and visited the Vallejo Home the Mission San Francisco de Solano, the Valley Cheese Factory and the Buena Vista Winery. Julius Castelan is president of the club.

The Westlake Senior Citizens Group meets every Wednesday at the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Elmwood Drive and Southgate Avenue. Richard Putnam is the president.

Persons or groups interested in having a booklet of ideas and opportunities for honoring Senior Citizens should write to the California Commission on Aging, 1108 Fourteenth Street, Sacramento.

PACIFICA FIRE Fighters Association will present its thirteenth annual ball May 17, and among the first in line for tickets from fireman Al Edwards, president of the Association, was Miss Pacifica, Lila Fay Hughes. Proceeds from dance will benefit the organization's Widows and Orphans Fund. Dance will be held from 9 p.m.-1 a.m., at Santo Cristo Hall, South San Francisco, with music by Frank Catalano.

Retirement 'White America' Fete Slated Production At For Teacher Serramonte High

Mrs. Ruth Rogers, third and fourth grade teacher at Daniel Webster School, is planning to retire in June. She has been a teacher in the Jefferson Elementary School District for 21 years.

A tea will be held in her honor on June 4 in the Daniel Webster multi-use room. There will be an evening of entertainment featuring Mrs. Rogers' present and former students.

Mrs. Rogers began teaching in the district in 1948. Prior to this, she had been teaching in Texas. She taught at Woodrow Wilson School for seven years, at Colma Primary School for three years, and came to Daniel Webster School when it was opened in 1959.

Any former pupil parent, friend, or co-worker who is interested in attending or in contributing to a gift, may call Mrs. William Sowl in Daly City.

S-A Member Campaign Opens in DC

The Serramonte High School Association is sponsoring "In White America" on Friday, May 16 and Saturday, May 17 at 8 p.m. in room 502 at Jefferson High School, presented by the students of Jefferson High School.

The Serramonte High School Drama Club is participating in advance ticket sales, along with members of the SHSA executive board. Proceeds are to be shared with the association and the JHS drama group. Donations: $1 adults and students, with student body card, 75 cents.

Members of the cast are as follows: Wendy Woolery, Tom Winterhalter, Leon Colvin, Debbie Von Hermann, Tom Neary, Cyndy Spitzer, Ray Howard, Elda Fontenot, George Jurand, Sue McAllister, Fern Tracy, Roberta Christian and Sharon Richard. The co-directors are Mrs. John Mongan and Mrs. Jeffrey Wentworth.

Daly City C of C Votes Band Money

The Daly City Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors Thursday voted to contribute $100 to the Westmoor-Serramonte marching band towards their scheduled trip to Disneyland to perform on the amusement park's main street.

Another request for funding a YWCA camping project was turned down by the directors.

The organization had requested $75 or less contribution.

Chamber president Elio Fontana and other directors noted that the chamber does not normally sponsor projects that do not publicize Daly City.

An Induction Luncheon Set

The annual luncheon for incoming and outgoing officers of the Sodality of Our Lady of the Assumption of St. Thomas More Church will be held on May 17 at 12:30 p.m. at International Joe's Restaurant in the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center.

WESTMOOR HIGH SCHOOL'S Stage Band, above, will give a concert May 17 at the Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City, marking the first time the award-winning group has appeared in the center. There will be no charge for the 1-2 p.m. concert, featuring the 22-member band, which won high honors in national competition at the University of Nevada. (Post Photo)

THE PENNEY STORY

"One eye on quality; one on price"

By ROBERTA NASH

More often than not, in a store's newspaper advertising, the emphasis is on the price of merchandise, for this is the news that readers want to know.

But the Penney people want to be sure you understand that this emphasis on price does not represent the thinking within the Penney organization. The thing that makes Penney wheels go round is value, or what you get for that low price.

"We have to keep one eye on quality and the other on price," is the way one of our buyers put it.

Red hot news! Boys' Ranchcraft® FIRE HOSE JEANS ARE REDUCED THURS. thru SAT.

Dispute Legal Aid Office Move to SSF

A proposal that Daly City's Legal Aid Society Office on Mission Street be relocated in South San Francisco met with stiff opposition from the city's Community Action Council.

At the Council's regular meeting last week, Legal Aid attorney Mike Silberstein suggested the Daly City office be merged with South San Francisco.

Silberstein said his justification for the proposed merger is the fact that a "one-man" office, such as the facility in Daly City, cannot function efficiently to serve the needs of the community.

If the merger was effected, the South San Francisco office would have three attorneys to serve the people, according to Silberstein.

Office hours could be arranged for Daly City every Wednesday at the Information and Referral Center, he said.

The council immediately rapped the proposal and pointed out the elderly and needy citizens of Daly City would encounter much difficulty in getting to and from the South San Francisco facility.

Mrs. Maria Luna, Daniel Shelton and Julius Castelan voiced disapproval of the merger and said they would vehemently oppose closing the Daly City office "under any conditions."

They argue that the present office is located right in the middle of the city's target area (for the needy) and is within easy walking distance to those who need it most.

9-Period-Day Eyed At Westmoor High

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District are pondering a Westmoor High School proposal for a nine-period day to allow for "building flexibility."

The matter was held over for at least a week after members of the Board of Trustees were unable to agree on the proposal by Westmoor Principal Richard Coltrill.

Westmoor's present seven-period day would be extended and two of the school's 17 portable classroom units would be retained, according to the Coltrill presentation.

The principal said he hoped to keep two of the portables to house a growing art department and the physical education department's health education classes.

Turstees seemed to prefer getting rid of all the portables and indicated concern over the condition of those it might consider keeping.

Board Chairman Edward Solomon said he had heard the art department's portable was in "shambles," but was told by both Supt. Edward Morgan and Coltrill that the building had been hit by vandals three.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Ed Sherin hasn't had time to nurse any wounded pride from being disgracefully overlooked by the Tony Awards committee for his superlative direction of the prize winning play, "Great White Hope," because he's been too busy preparing the difficult "Glory Hallelujah," for American Conservatory Theater.

"The slight left me with a hearty contempt for the industry, but it taught me a lot about myself. The sense of self esteem one gets out of artistic creativity should be enough. After several weeks of pain and funkiness and resentment I realized that part of myself is wrong. It was like taking a cure," the young heralded associate producing director of the Arena State in Washington, D.C. admitted.

What attracted him to the near impossible project of doing a Civil War drama with 27 scenes and 100 actors was "its sentiment of narrative folk music and simplicity in its regional dialect and immense compassion. I couldn't believe a woman wrote it because it is filled with tough trench talk the language of soldiers. I was intrigued."

ACT producer Bill Ball has wanted Sherin to work with his group for a long while. So when Sherin suggested a May 28 world premiere at which the author would attend all rehearsals made possible by a Ford Foundation Grant, the answer was "yes," without hesitation.

Much of the credit for Sherin's local contribution goes to his sister, Mrs. Leonard Markson, who is ACT's development director. The couple's path crosses frequently, as she's also served on the Milwaukee Repertory board with the Ford Foundation and other national theater groups.

Sherin, who also directed the immensely successful premiere production of "Great White Hope" at Arena Stage, has a wife and three sons living in Washington, D.C. while he moves around the country garnering a glowing reputation as a director. His next project will be a film (his first) with Burt Lancaster in the lead role.

"If I leave the theater and deal only with Broadway and Hollywood, it will be out of frustration with lack of financial resources. The country is full of extraordinary actors without significant professional outlets. But while there are not enough actors to do Miss Barlow's play, ACT can't afford more."

In spite of frustration over the repertory companies' struggles to keep alive, he cited the country's outstanding groups beginning with ACT. He followed with the Tyrone Guthrie in Minneapolis, the Alley in Houston, Arena in Washington, Long Wharf in New Haven. He acknowledged the now defunct APA and Seattle Repertory in passing.

"Lincoln Center has not made any substantial contribution to continuity or training of actors. It's impossible to compete with commercial theater and pose as a resident theater such as the Ahmanson in L.A. or Atlanta Repertory."

"The blame for Lincoln Center's condition comes out of many factors. I wouldn't have Jules Irving's job for the world."

He'll audition ACT actors for his film, "Valdez is Coming," during the company's hiatus. Admitting that he doesn't know "one end of a camera from the other," he also added that he can "direct actors better than anyone in the US."

Harvey got a blanket from his car to cover her and then notified South San Francisco police. Subsequent investigation by Sheriff's deputies indicated that the victim, a 23-year-old San Mateo waitress, may have been beaten and raped Monday and had been on the mountain since then, injured and without her clothes.

Deputies said there were indications that she was unconscious much of the time and that she had tried to go for help, but kept falling down.

The victim has not been able to tell the full story of what happened to her and the case was still under investigation today.

A physician who examined her at Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco said she was suffering an advanced stage of dehydration, second-degree sunburns over her entire body, and bruises and contusions. After emergency treatment there she was transferred to County General Hospital, where her condition is said to be satisfactory.

Sheriff's Deputies Neil Reynolds and Thomas O'Rourke said another man had seen the victim three hours earlier, at which time she was lying on an old discarded mattress beside a dirt road. Thinking she was merely a sunbather who had fallen asleep, he did not stop.

The mattress, the deputies said, was about 250 feet up the trail from the spot where the Harveys found the woman. A sweater, skirt and undergarments were found some 45 feet up the hill from the mattress.

After emergency treatment, the victim was able to identify herself for the first time. She thought it was still Monday, the deputies reported. The young woman related that she had taken a bus from San Francisco, intending to visit a friend in South San Francisco, and decided to take a hike on San Bruno Mountain before the visit.

Stolen Car Stopped, Gun Discovered

Two San Francisco men were arrested in Daly City last Thursday after they were spotted driving through the city in a stolen car.

A passenger in the car, reported stolen on May 10 in San Francisco, tried to conceal a loaded .38-caliber revolver in the vehicle's glove compartment after being stopped according to arresting officer Russell Cunningham.

The officer said he first saw the vehicle near the intersection of Mission and Market Streets about 3 a.m. Monday.

In checking out the car, he noticed the make and model matched that of a reported stolen car, but the license number was different.

No 1969 license "tag" was attached to the license, so Cunningham decided to stop the car and "check it out."

As the driver reached into the glove compartment to produce a registration, the officer saw the gun and quickly hauled both the driver and male passenger out of the vehicle.

Arrested were Aurentz Dean Auday, 24, of 119 Haight Street, driver of the car, and Willie Simmons, 33, of 339 Eddy Street.

Simmons was charged with concealing a dangerous weapon, and Auday was charged with auto theft.

STIRRING THINGS UP — If there's anything I can't stand, it's those "inside story" types who have all the answers AFTER something happens. Case in point: Last week's regrettable drowning of a small child in a housing development pool across the county line in San Francisco. The caller informed (quite anonymously, of course) that there was indeed a second resuscitator in the Daly City fire station near the scene and even though the fire truck with the resuscitator normally used was en route to a blaze at a Geneva Avenue laundromat, the old model could have been used.

We checked it out. There WAS a battered old resuscitator tucked away in a far corner of the station. It weighed about 120 pounds, took at least two men to operate it (there was only one in station and he was supposed to leave for the laundromat fire) and it looked like it had barely survived the First World War. But that didn't deter our caller, Nosiree! He plowed right in and told us how we were "snowed" by fire officials and Mayor Bud Lysett.

What he didn't say, and apparently did not really care about, was the fact that three small boys were left to their own fate by swimming in the pool without benefit of an adult to watch them and that one lad had died. He didn't even care to discuss the fact that the cause of death still had not been determined (at the time of his call.) He was consumed with disgracing both the mayor and fire department. In so doing he disgraced himself in our book.

SCOOPS GALORE — Senior Daly City councilman Edward J. Dennis has been invited by BARTD director George Reedy to tour the rapid transit system later this month. Dennis is expected to accept... It appears things are perking up regarding the Daly City terminus and we predict some positive action will soon be taken by both BARTD and Daly City officials on the matter. Look for a series of meets between the two bodies within the month.

IT'S ABOUT TIME Daly City honored ALL her war dead. No one I ever met in the service asked to die. A kid who buys it in Vietnam is just as dead as the one who was killed in either of the World Wars. A memorial with those Americans who died in whatever war should be honored. The idea of a plaque to be displayed in the Daly City War Memorial Building is an excellent one. Further, when one of the city's men die in battle, the mayor should proclaim a week of mourning and flags should be lowered to half-mast. Let those opposed to the Vietnam Thing fight the government, but they have NO RIGHT to blame those who have died in battle. They have given their absolute all and should now rest in peace.

THAT AREA AROUND Mission-San Pedro-Reiner is getting mighty rough. The other p.m. five punks walked into the Mercy Ambulance Company garage and when owner "Mac" McDonald checked them out, they started coming for him. He dropped one of them and the others fled — fast! Similar incidents on the upswing throughout the neighborhood.

SICK CALL (Outpatient Dept.) — City Attorney (D.C.) Al Polonsky limping around last week after snapping something in his back while trying to toss a bowling ball during a match. Could be just Old Age. Al! ... Folks out there in Readerland better take it slow at the bowling Emporiums! A few weeks ago Jack Friedman accidentally dropped a bowling ball on his foot and limped around for weeks.

NEWSPORTHY SECTION — Frank Monte's service station on the corner of Southgate and Lake Merced Avenues soon to be torn down — with a new station to rise on the site. Just a bit of modernization, Monte informs... Here's an interesting idea offered by CPA's Alfred Kay. Before you fly off to the Orient (via his airline, natch!) drop off your namecard and the company will have bi-lingual cards awaiting your arrival in Japan. Veddy nice.

HOT TIME IN THE OLD TOWN — Listen for sirens on Thursday, May 15. That's the day the Daly City Chamber will have as its guest speaker Assemblyman Leo Ryan. Out in the audience will be Daly City Mayor Bud Lysett... waiting. The two haven't agreed on too many things in recent months, especially AB 272, the bill that takes the lid off the tax rate and leaves it up to school districts to levy it. (Not ALL of 272, only sections.) Lysett has hit out at Ryan for not taking positive action in helping repeal parts of the bill and not supporting AB 35, which would officially amend AB 272. (Confused? So are we!) The fiery mayor last week again slapped the Assemblyman because "he doesn't care if he knocks people out of their homes." The meeting should prove interesting. Bring your own Band-aids.

DALY CITY Clerk Anna Ohlendorf back from a ten-day Parliamentary Procedures meet in far off St. Louis as a member of the International City Clerks.

THOSE GOLD COINS stolen last month ($150,000 worth) from a San Francisco coin dealer are turning up in Mexico.

BITS AND PIECES — Westlake Improvement Association digging in for a battle over construction of a small office building at the corner of Alemany and Cliffside. Systematic Savings & Loan wants a four-man office, the thousands — strong homeowners oppose it. But let's face it folks, the company at least has the right to present their plans to the City Planning Commission and then if it's turned down by that body they have the right of appeal to the City Council.

ADDED COMMENTS — Yes Nancy, there WAS a Santa Claus. But some folks thought Good Old St. Nick should be scratched from the list. Too bad! We thought it was about time to send in a Letter to the Editor answering little Nancy's question about the jolly fellow and perhaps pick up a nice award for our efforts. As usual, we procrastinated too long.

The Other Side

A short time ago this column carried a review of the latest book by Eldridge Cleaver. Since then I have been subject to a barrage of questions and comments.

"Why don't you give us something from the non-militant but greatly disgusted Americans who are sick of riots, protests, and adolescent whimpering, a gentleman writes.

Okey—among the statements by such Americans, one that is receiving wide circulation came from Bob Roberts of Radio KVI in Seattle. Because it speaks the thoughts of many people it won for Roberts the highest award given to a broadcaster by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

"I have had it up to here with persons who are trying deliberately to tear my country apart. And it's way past time to throw at me that tired old wheeze about being a Flag-waver. You're damned right I'm a Flag-waver, and I got the right to be one the hard way.

"I have had it with pubescent punks, wallowing in self-pity, who make a display of deploring their birth into a world which—to use their sissy expression—they didn't make... Don't give me your whining, whimpering, self-pitying clap-trap about how this country is letting you down.

"I have had it with hippies, brainless intellectuals, writers who can't write, painters who can't paint, teachers who can't teach, administrators who can't administrate, entertainers who fancy themselves sociologists, and Negroes who castigate as "Uncle Toms" the very men who have done the most to demonstrate to all of us the most important quality in America... individual enterprise and responsibility... Dr. George Washington Carver, Archie Moore, Bert Williams, Booker T. Washington, Roy Wilkins, Justice Thurgood Marshall, Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Nat Cole, the Mills Brothers, and their father... and many more.

"I've had it with those cerebral giants who think it's smart to invite drug advocates to lecture in their classrooms, and with teaching curiosities like that one in the Mercer Island School District who invited a Black Power spokesman to dispense a lecture on Flag-burning.

"I've had it with people who are setting about deliberately to rip up mankind's noblest experiment in decency.

"And I'm going to tell you something. If you think you're going to tear down my country's Flag and destroy the institutions my friends and members of my family have fought and died for, you're going to have to climb over me first.

"And, buddy, you'd better get up awful early in the morning."

ADDED INSURANCE — An old, but still usable, resuscitator (dark box, center) has been placed aboard an aerial truck at Daly City's fire station number three over the weekend, in the wake of a small child's drowning within six blocks of the station last week. (Post Photo.)

AN EDITORIAL

When Life at Stake...

A little boy, only seven years old, drowned last Monday in San Francisco. No one will ever know if he might have been saved by prompt rescue action.

What we do know is that two young friends of the boy ran more than five blocks to a Daly City fire station to report that he was drowning in a swimming pool. In so doing they crossed city and county boundary lines. He was drowning in San Francisco and they went to Daly City for help.

Form that point on the grim hand of tragedy was in control. The only fire truck in the Daly City station equipped with a resuscitator was out on another alarm. The Battalion Chief of the station was also leaving on the same alarm when the two frightened boys arrived.

He told them to hurry back and notify the San Francisco Fire Department and, himself, called that department on his auto radio. When San Francisco firemen arrived about 12 minutes later the boy was dead despite efforts of an unidentified man who pulled the lad from the pool and applied artificial respiration.

Whether or not his life might have been saved if firemen from either city had responded more quickly is problematical. He might have survived with expert treatment; he may have been beyond help.

But the tragic event caused a storm of controversy with one San Francisco fire officer allegedly having used the word "murder" to a Daly City fireman.

Mayor Bernard Lysett of Daly City, angered by the ensuing recriminations, declared: "I don't care where someone's life is in danger—we go to their aid. Our fire department knows that and we have assisted them (San Francisco) many times in the past."

The fire chiefs of both cities will confer Monday on the circumstances of the drowning.

Well they may — it is inconceivable that boundary lines of cities should be invisible barriers when a life is at stake.

No matter what the explanation may be — the boy will not be brought back to life.

This thought should also be a warning to all pool owners and operators who leave what the law calls an "attractive nuisance" unguarded from small children.

A SPECIAL NORTH COAST 'SEE' TRIP

Rural Route 218 Offers Some Relaxing Scenery

IT'S JUST over 60 miles from Cloverdale to the Mendocino coast along Highway 128 and every mile is packed with relaxing scenery.

This is rural country with clear running creeks that invite you to splash in their waters, the Navarro River, a real country store, four splendid state parks, sunny meadows and at the end the magnificent Pacific Ocean sends its waves crashing ashore.

The California State Automobile Association says Highway 128 makes an ideal weekend trip.

From Cloverdale the road twists up over the rounded hills and down to the ranchlands of Anderson Valley. Cows and horses graze in rolling fields dotted with oaks, madrones, weathered barns and white frame farmhouses.

Maillaird Redwoods State Reserve is north of Yorkville and three and a half miles off 128. The turnoff sign says "Ornbaum Springs" (once a soda springs resort) and "Anchor Bay." More than 240 acres of redwood, fir, oak and madrone invites the traveler to get out and stretch.

HAVE YOU ever heard "Boonfling" spoken? Stop in the fair village of Boonville where this curious phenomenon began at the turn of the century and you might hear a few words. It is a dialect developed by local ranchers and it is still taught to children in the town school.

Boonville is home of the Mendocino County Fair and Apple Show held annually in September.

One of the finest parks along Highway 128 is Hendy Woods State Park with splendid virgin redwoods, sunny meadows and the sparkling Navarro River. The 95 campsites are scattered through the thick forest, so campers are secluded from their neighbors. In spring and early summer the Navarro has pools deep enough for swimming and jumping off the rocks. Late summer means wading only.

Two groves of big virgin redwoods are preserved here: Little Hendy and Big Hendy. It's a peaceful walk along the soft forest floor, surrounded by lacy ferns, green sorrel and butterflies.

Everyone will enjoy a stop at the Flood Gate Store on the road between Hendy Woods and Navarro. This is a true country store, with all kinds of provisions for sale and souvenirs of the pioneer lumbering and ranching days on display outside under the trees: rusty old chain saws, axes, branding irons, lanterns, spurs and farming tools.

IF YOU WANT to know about lumber and forestry practices stop at the Redwood Region Conservation Council Demonstration Forest one mile from Navarro. It was established by the redwood industry and has a 600-yard self-guiding trail.

A popular overnight stop for campers is Paul M. Dimmick State Recreation Area about six miles inland from the coast. Although small — only 12 acres — it has 28 campsites and 12 picnic units where campers can escape the fog and cold winds off the coast.

Gigantic bluffs, a wild rocky coast, strong winds and a powerful sea herald the end of the Navarro River and Highway 128. Navarro Beach is wonderful for walking — it is strewn with huge chunks of driftwood, there are lots of shorebirds at the river mouth and the spectacular cliffs are decked with wild flowers.

Home Swindle

SAM DALEY had no plans to sell his home. In fact, at the time he did not have the slightest idea that he was involved in any such action.

Nevertheless, he did legally sell his home and found that he had little or no redress for his grievances.

Under the present laws, such deceptive practices that Sam suffered from cannot be stopped when discovered because litigation generally takes years and in the meantime, countless Sam Daleys are swindled out of their property.

It all started when a man appeared at the Daley front door one late afternoon announcing that he represented a home improvement firm. He told Sam that he had been driving by and noted that the house was obviously in need of repairs. Sam agreed to have work done by the home improvement firm and signed what he thought was a contract for the work.

He did question the fact that the date, total amount of money he would owe and interest charges were left blank. The salesman assured him that this was standard procedure and convinced, Sam signed his name.

WHAT FOLLOWED is one of the oldest swindles on the books. The salesman later filled in the cost of the work, charging approximately twice the quoted price. He had the contract and "another paper" that Daley had signed falsely notarized out of the presence of Sam. The "other paper" which had been represented to Sam as an application for a title search was actually a mortgage on his home.

The home improvement firm "transferred" the note and mortgage to a credit firm for less than sixty per cent of each note's face value and a "balloon payment" schedule set up. The note called for a total of $6,000 to be repaid in the amount of $50 a month for 60 months. This left $2,400 unpaid.

What Sam had not read in fine print was the clause which said that the full note was due and payable on the same day as the final payment. If the victim is unable to pay the total amount he lost his property. Sam Daley could not produce the extra $2,600 and so lost his home.

CONSUMER LOSSES as the result of such frauds cost the American public an estimated $750,000 million each year. This roughly represents between 4 and 8 per cent of the entire home improvement business.

Legislation has been introduced which would permit a stepped up nationwide drive against the home improvement racketeering. The measure would provide more funds and wider authority to the FTC in its conduct of a year's comprehensive investigation of unfair practices within the home improvement industry.

Further, it would enable the commission to obtain an immediate court order temporarily halting the practices while pursuing a permanent "cease and desist" order through further judicial action.

We're dedicated to the idea of helping our customers make more money. So at First National you get the highest rate paid by any insured financial institution in the country. That's just the beginning. We provide all the services a larger bank provides, but with a difference. For example, most banks are open daily only while you are working. No so at First National. If you come by as early as 8 o'clock in the morning, you'll find a cheerful bank officer there ahead of you, at a drive-in or walk-up window. And you will find him, still smiling, if you show up as late as 6 p.m. — 8 p.m. on Fridays. That's a total of 52 hours a week, while most other banks are open only 28 hours. That's not all. You'll find one of four branches near you. And we are dedicated to the idea of serving you quickly, efficiently, and helpfully. Come in and see. You'll be glad you did.

Many Dressings Please Guests; Vary Your Seasonal Salads, Too

This recipe offers three delectable different dressings. Makes them all... let your guests choose their favorite.

Creamy Blue Cheese Dressing

1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/2 cup plain yogurt
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Blend mayonnaise, yogurt, salt and pepper. Stir in cheese and parsley. Makes 1 cup.

Fruit Confeiti Dressing

1/2 cup real mayonnaise
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup drained canned fruit cocktail
Blend mayonnaise, cream, vinegar and salt. Fold in fruit cocktail. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Avocado-Caraway Dressing

1 cup mashed or sieved avocado (1 or 2 avocados)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon caraway seed
Mix all ingredients. Serve at once or cover tightly and chill until serving time. Makes 1 cup.
Core, rinse and drain 2 heads of western iceberg lettuce. Chill in plastic bag or saran. Cut each head of lettuce lengthwise into 4 or 5 wedges. Place on salad plates. Serve Creamy Blue Cheese, Fruit Confeiti and Avocado-Caraway Dressings in stemmed glasses or bowls. 8 to 10 servings.

Here's an interesting recipe—a moist cake-like confection that's made with shredded lettuce! From the Test Kitchen of the Kansas Wheat Commission, Hutchinson, Kansas, 67501.

1 cup lettuce, finely chopped
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground mace
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup corn oil
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 eggs
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
Sift flour with baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Combine sugar, oil and lemon rind; mix in flour combination and chopped lettuce. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in walnuts. Turn into a greased 8x13 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Cool. Frost with Lemon Icing.

Lemon Icing: 1 1/2 cups confectioners sugar; 1/4 teaspoon lemon extract; 1/2 teaspoon lemon rind, grated; 2 to 3 tablespoons milk; 1 tablespoon soft butter. Mix together to a smooth consistency. Spread on bars.

TOSSED SALAD EN GELEE

Capture the garden freshness of a tossed salad in a gelatin mold! It's a make-ahead-of-time salad any busy hostess will love! Surprising, too, how wonderfully crisp western iceberg lettuce stays in the gelatin mold.

1 head western iceberg lettuce
2 envelopes plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups boiling water
2 teaspoons sugar
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Egg Creole

And Chicken Liver Dish

The crackle of a lively fire is an excellent appetizer stimulant. Today's heartside menu is especially selected to demonstrate how convenience foods can shorten the work and extend the eating pleasure of a gourmet meal for hungry Sunday morning athletes.

Melon and Berry Cup (frozen)

Chicken Livers and Egg Creole
Toasted French Bread
Coffee
with Vanilla Ice Cream Float Milk

CHICKEN LIVERS AND EGG CREOLE

1 small green pepper, sliced
1 small onion, sliced
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato
1/4 cup water
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 cup diced cooked chicken livers (about 1/2 pound, fresh or frozen)
2 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
French bread, thinly sliced and toasted
Cook green pepper, onion, and mushrooms in butter until tender. Stir in soup, water, and vinegar. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Add chicken livers and eggs. Heat thoroughly. Serve over toasted French bread. Four servings.

1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup corn oil
One-third cup vinegar
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped cucumber
1/2 cup chopped radishes
1/2 cup chopped green onions
Core, rinse and drain lettuce very well. Cut lengthwise into halves. Place cut-side down on board and cut into bite-size pieces to make 3 cups. Refrigerate any unused lettuce in plastic bag or saran. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in boiling water. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Combine sugar, salt, mustard, paprika, celery seed and pepper. Stir in salad oil and vinegar; add to gelatin mixture. Stir to mix well. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds on spoon. Fold in lettuce and all remaining ingredients. Turn into 5-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce-lined tray if you wish. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CRISP PICNIC SALAD

A tote-along salad that's easy to assemble ahead and toss on the spot. Prepare dressing ahead. Take all ingredients along in plastic containers. Tupperware does a particularly good job of maintaining lettuce freshness and crispness.

1 head western iceberg lettuce
2 medium-size western tomatoes

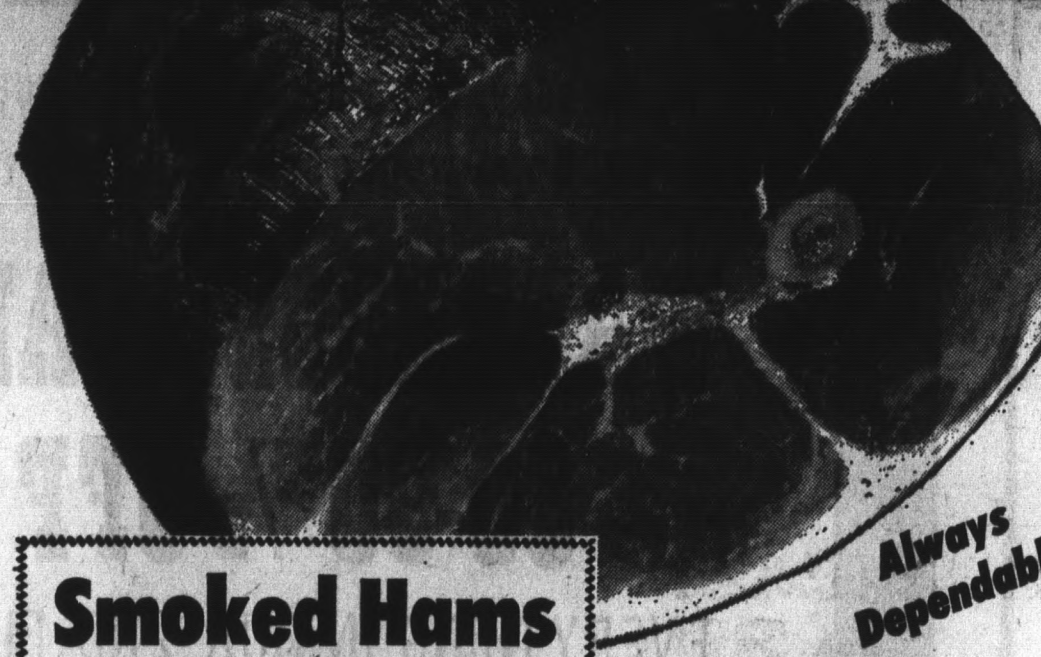

1 green pepper
8 to 10 radishes
2 or 3 green onions
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar

1/2 cup corn oil
Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Wash remaining vegetables; trim radishes and onions. Place lettuce along with other vegetables in plastic bowl with cover or in plastic bag. Combine sugar, seasoned salt, mustard, paprika and chili powder in small plastic bowl or jar with cover. Stir in lemon juice and vinegar.

Add oil. Cover and shake to blend. Carry plastic containers to picnic. Just before serving, tear lettuce into bite-size pieces, cut tomatoes into wedges and green pepper into strips and slice radishes and onions; combine in plastic bowl. Shake dressing to blend; pour over vegetables. Toss lightly. Makes 6 servings.

California Gold Was Pin Money Compared with Return from State's Cattle

The cattle and calves raised in California in the last 4 years contributed $430 million more than all the gold ever dug out of the Sierra.

California is the number one agricultural state in the nation and beef is her number one agricultural commodity. One out of three jobs in the state is connected with agriculture, so California Beef is big business.

California ranks third nationally in the production of quality grain-fed beef.

California's cattle herd has grown from 2 million head in 1920 to 5 million head in 1969. Average weekly earnings have increased more than 80 per cent in that same period.

Californians consume approximately 136 pounds of beef per person, per year — or 30 pounds above the national average.

The cattle industry ranks with aerospace and electronics as examples of California's sophisticated economic development.

Cattlemen today are graduates of agricultural colleges with backgrounds in marketing, finance and accounting as well as agriculture.

To assist them in careful decision making, today's cattlemen utilize data processing and other technical equipment. The result is uniform high-quality beef.

The California Beef Council represents the three phases of the beef industry — cattlemen, diarymen and feeders. The Council is located at 463 Brewster Avenue, Redwood City, 04063. The telephone number is (415) 369-3327.

Today's beef is carefully transported rather than driven as in the old days. The result is less shrink and bruising of the animal and more tender, less expensive meat for the consumer.

It is here that most calves are reared of Livestock Identification. The Grass Man owns or leases pastureland which he rents to cattlemen at a fee of 6 to 8 per head, per month, or on a share of the gain.

The Feed Lot Operator finishes the cattle, bringing them to their most desirable weight and condition — about 1000 pounds with a maximum of lean red meat and just the right amount of marbling.

Packers buy finished cattle for processing into the basic meat cuts. They also process canned and frozen ready-to-heat meat products.

After the Packer has dressed the cattle, each carcass weighs only 600 pounds — 400 are lost during the process.

The inspection mark, a circle, and the grademark, a shield, represent different things. The inspection mark means the meat is wholesome, while the grademark indicates the quality of meat.

The Retailer converts the basic cuts from the Packers into steaks, roasts, stew and ground meat.

By the time a Butcher finishes cutting the beef into steaks and roasts about 465 pounds of meat are left out of the original 1000.

An efficient ranch is a preserver of open space against pressures of population growth. It holds land in grass and trees and protects watersheds.

Five million acres of California's farmland are now under homes and highways, and the remaining open spaces are disappearing at a rate of 400 acres a day.

Cattle rustlers are active even today. About 50 cases a year, involving up to 100 head in each case, occur. Eight out of ten rustlers are caught.

Gadgetry Lines Walls Of Markets

The inventiveness of modern man is best displayed in the housewares section of your favorite department store. Literally hundreds of "time savers" can be found lining the walls and display counters.

One food product seems to have an enormous amount of gadgets to help cut it, cook it, hold it — did you guess? — the egg, of course. That little perfectly packaged by nature, protein food seems to have caught the fancy of the gadget makers.

Some of the gadgets can be quite helpful. The three-minute timer, in the shape of an hour glass complete with sand, can be a blessing for the wife whose husband demands three minute eggs.

Egg slicers, in a variety of shapes and materials can also be quite helpful. They produce perfect slices of hard-cooked eggs to be used for garnishes or in salads and casseroles. If you've ever used an egg slicer, you'll certainly agree it's a lot easier than trying to cut them with a paring knife.

Something else to catch the fancy is, for lack of a better name, an egg "Sixther." This little innovation cuts the egg with one stroke into perfect sixths. Not fourths, but sixths.

Another interesting item is the egg separator. This gadget is to aid the not so nimble fingered in separating the yolks from the whites. These are necessary only if you haven't mastered the art of using the shell halves for this task.

The egg punch is the gadget inventor's answer to the problem of cracked shells during hard-cooking. This is a little device made of plastic with a sharp needle in its middle that pierces the large end of the egg. The theory this is based on is that the hole in the end of the egg allows the air in the air cell to escape. Therefore, the air doesn't expand during cooking and break the shell. Isn't that clever?

Also to be found in this menagerie are egg rings for perfectly fried eggs, egg poachers for perfectly poached eggs and egg coddlers for perfectly coddled eggs. There are also electric egg cookers that do practically everything to an egg except lay it.

Yes, modern man is inventive, but they still haven't replaced the hen.

SPICY MUFFINS

Sweet meaty walnuts and California prunes are delicious together in spicy muffins. Use your favorite recipes for the muffins and add 1/4 cup each chopped prunes and nuts. Spoon the batter into greased muffin cups and sprinkle with a little sugar before baking.

LET'S KNIT

With Illustrated Patterns

By Ursula duBois

A fun-day stylish coat! Large needles plus large yarn plus a fascinating stitch design equal one coat — to be worn within four days! Miss Virginia Levy, model and television actress, models this elegant slimline coat. There are no sleeves to be set in as they are picked up at the armhole and knitted right onto the garment.

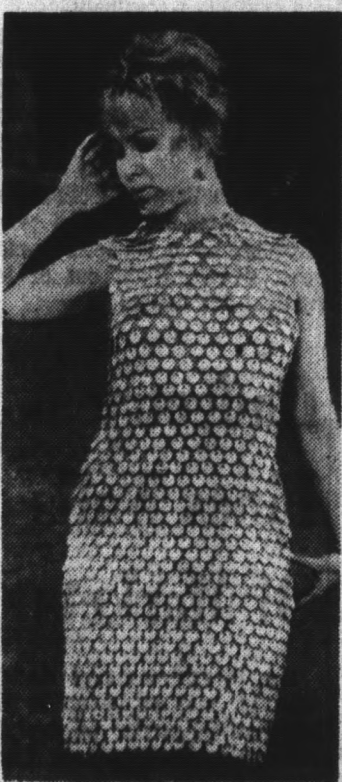

Sleeves are knitted in a garter stitch (knit every row) and the bodice of the coat is knitted in a decorative stitch pattern.

This coat is a real fun project and is the type of design you may wish to use in other garments.

Illustrated instructions are written in sizes 10 through 20. All sizes are included on one pattern.

To obtain pattern No. 405, send $1 in currency, check, or money order to: Ursula duBois Lewis, San Mateo Times, Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif. 91407.

Send 15 cents extra for first class mail and special handling. PLEASE PRINT PLAINLY YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, PAT- TERN NUMBER AND ZIP CODE NUMBER.

Kitchen Has The Action These Days

The kitchen is where the excitement is these days. The gourmet groundswell is sweeping the country, hyped by world travel by more Americans, the rising levels of sophistication and culture, as well as the increased leisure and more interest in home entertaining.

With her usual inventiveness the American homemaker has discovered that gourmet dishes can be fashioned of convenience foods, easily available. She searches out new recipes within the framework of her cooking experience, modifies them, and then comes up with exotic dishes that could easily grace the table of an Escoffier.

Since there is probably no product which has such universal social acceptance and appeal as the potato chip, the Potato Chip Institute International's home economists have been busily testing gourmet dishes which incorporate easily available chips.

Here's a tantalizing one to start off your next dinner party:

OYSTERS SARATOGA
4 large oysters in half shell (per person)
Olive oil
Chopped spinach
Sliced lemon
Butter

Dressing
Heavy cream
Worcestershire sauce
Dried lemon rind
Potato chips
Parmesan cheese

Prepare 4 large size oysters in half shell per person. Remove oysters, drain and reserve liquid. Pour a little olive oil in each oyster shell and add 1 teaspoon chopped spinach.

To prepare dressing: Lightly whip 1/2 cup heavy cream, fold in 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon dried lemon rind, oyster liquid, 3 tablespoons of potato chip crumbs and 1 tablespoon of grated Parmesan cheese.

Spread the dressing mixture on the spinach and place oyster on top. Spread more mixture on oyster. Lay 1 potato chip on dressing with 1 thin slice of lemon. Put a little dab of butter on the lemon. Bake in baking dish filled with rock salt. Bake at 400 degrees for 6 or 7 minutes. Serve smoking hot with tabasco sauce.

Taste and Texture Make A Cracker Good to Chew

When we take a bite of food, the taste buds located on the tongue and palate and in the lining of the nose and throat perceive the taste and transmit it to the brain where it is compared to previous experience and recorded as salty, sweet, sour, bitter, or a combination. But the physical perception of mination of flavors. As we chew, we are influenced by the texture — soft to hard, and the sound — crunch. Then we feel the temperature — cold to hot. Before we even take a bit our eyes have been influenced by the color and shape of food.

For example, when we look at a golden round cracker we expect it to be crisp and salty or sweet. It's delicious with soups or frosty ice cream floats, fruit, dips, cheese, salads, and any one of these savory or sweet toppings.

drained, chopped. Pile on ham. Sauté 2 tablespoons chopped onion in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine until golden. Add 1/4 pound chopped chicken liver and brown. Stir in 2 teaspoons soy sauce. Pile on crackers; garnish with chopped, hard-cooked egg and Pimientos, sliced.

SAVORY CANAPES
Spread Duet Crackers with Mayonnaise Base then: Top with small pieces of sliced cooked ham. Combine 3 ounces softened cream cheese, 2 tablespoons India relish and 1 (2-ounce) jar Pimientos, sliced, Mayonnaise Base: 1/4 teaspoon unflavored gelatine. 1 teaspoon cold water. 1/2 cup mayonnaise. Soften gelatine in cold water; place over hot water, stirring until dissolved. Blend in mayonnaise; spread evenly on crackers. Refrigerate about 15 minutes, or until set.

SWEET CANAPES
Spread crackers with a thin layer of softened cream cheese; then: Top with banana slices, which have been tossed with a little lemon juice; halved, seeded grapes and mandarin orange segments. Dust with cinnamon-sugar. Combine 3 ounces softened cream cheese with 1 tablespoon honey, 2 tablespoons chopped peanuts and 1/2 cup diced tart red apple. Pile on crackers. Garnish with maraschino cherries, quartered. Split pitted dates; spread apart; place on crackers. Fill with drained, crushed pineapple. Sprinkle with coconut.

Glazed Yams Tempting

Colorful vegetable dishes like glazed yams tempt youngsters. Drain 3 cans (1 pound each) whole yams or sweet potatoes and place in shallow baking dish. Combine 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons honey, 1 tablespoon sesame seeds and 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard; pour over yams. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Summer's Coming, So Set the Pace with Some Real Cool Chiller Thrillers

Settle the pace for summer with the coolest go-togethers yet: the "Chiller Thrillers," created with refreshing, dairy fresh ice cream.

Thriller number one: a glistening Lemon Ice Cream Pie. All you do is crumble a crispy graham cracker crust, adding real creamery butter to make it extra rich and flavorful. Prepare crust; then freeze. Now spoon on the vanilla ice cream, previously softened for about 10 minutes in the refrigerator. (If ice cream begins to melt, slip pie into the freezer for a few minutes.) Peak with the tart, lemony topping and serve. Your family will fall head-over-lemons for this one!

Chiller Thriller number two: a Chocolate Glazed Bombe. Layers of vanilla ice cream, lime and lemon sherbet gently nestle a layer of chopped pecans. More pecans smother the top and sides of the bombe, and a lush chocolate-butter sauce is drizzled over all this. Return to freezer. Then serve with a Milk Chocolate Sauce made extra creamy with evaporated milk. For other summer thrillers consider tingling ice cream sundaes with saucy toppings of rum butter or chewy coffee-butterscotch. Both boast the goodness of real butter as well as dairy fresh light cream or half and half. Or try our Spiced Grape Sauce. It's so different because it combines the tartness of lemon juice with grape juice and fun-loving cinnamon! Just add a dash of imagination to your favorite ingredients and dairy fresh ice cream and you've got your own "Chiller Thriller" . . . the latest scoop on summer desserts.

CHOCOLATE GLAZED BOMBE
2 pints vanilla ice cream, softened
1 pint lime sherbet, softened
40 pecan halves, toasted and salted
1 pint lemon sherbet, softened
2 squares (1-oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate
2 tablespoons butter
Chill 1 1/2-quart loaf dish in freezer. Spread ice cream as evenly as possible with spatula or back of spoon on inside of loaf dish to make a shell lining about 3/4-inch thick; freeze. (If ice cream becomes too soft to work, set mold in freezer for ice cream to reharden.) Spoon lime sherbet into center and spread evenly; freeze. Set aside 29 pecan halves, chop remainder. Sprinkle chopped pecans over lime sherbet. Fill loaf pan with lemon sherbet; freeze. Unmold onto chilled serving plate by dipping into warm water; press pecan halves on top and sides of bombe to form desired design; return to freezer. Over hot water melt together chocolate and butter; cool to lukewarm; drizzle over top and down sides of bombe. Return to freezer. Serve with Milk Chocolate Sauce. Makes 10-12 servings.

MILK CHOCOLATE SAUCE
4 squares (1-oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate
1 cup evaporated milk
In a small saucepan over low heat melt chocolate in evaporated milk. Stir constantly until mixture is smooth and thick. Yield: approx. 1 cup.
Note: To toast pecans, melt 1 1/2 tablespoons butter in a shallow pan. Add pecans and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Toast in preheated 400-degree oven, stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes. Cool.

LEMON ICE CREAM PIE CRUST:
1 1/3 cups graham cracker crumbs (16 squares)
2 tablespoons sugar
1 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter, melted
FILLING:
3 pints vanilla ice cream, softened
TOPPING:
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 egg, slightly beaten
To prepare crust: In a small bowl mix together crumbs and sugar; stir in butter. Press mixture firmly and evenly against bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate, building up slightly around edge. Freeze. To fill pie: Place ice cream in refrigerator for about 10 minutes to soften. Spoon into crust and pack firmly. Freeze.
To prepare topping: In a small saucepan combine sugar, butter, lemon peel and juice; heat to boiling, stirring occasionally. Add small amount of hot mixture to egg; return all to saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, for 1 minute or until thickened. Cool to room temperature. To serve pie: Just before serving spoon part of topping over pie. Dip bottom of pie plate in warm water to loosen crust; cut into serving portions. Spoon additional topping over each serving.
Note: Other flavors of ice cream such as strawberry, chocolate, peach or your favorite the vanilla ice cream.

Fish, Pasta Companions To Italians

Fish and pasta—unlikely companions? Not as the Italians see it. Surrounded on three sides by the sea, they naturally rely on the bountiful deep to complement their popular pasta.

You'll like this recipe which includes spaghetti, tuna, and spinach for a meatless meal-in-a-dish. Preparation time is whittled down to a mere few minutes when you rely on canned Italian style spaghetti to lend easy authenticity to the menu. Now, as never before, this canned spaghetti (enriched with spaghetti) with more cheese, spices, and tomatoes tastes truly Italian. There's no long, hour-after-hour simmering process to be concerned with. After just 20 minutes of baking time, the tuna and spinach acquire the delightful tomato-good, cheese-rich flavor of the spaghetti and the casserole is ready to enjoy.

A colorful antipasto tray is the perfect appetite-stimulator for the main course. And for the finale, serve steaming full-flavored espresso.

SPAGHETTI AND TUNA ITALIANO
2 cans (15 1/4 ounces each) Italian style spaghetti
2 cans (7 ounces each) tuna, drained and flaked
1/4 cup finely chopped onions
1 package (10 ounces) frozen spinach, cooled and drained
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup garlic flavored cream sauce
Combine spaghetti, tuna and onion. Layer half spaghetti mixture in shallow baking dish (10x6x2-in.). Spread with spinach; sprinkle with lemon juice. Layer remaining spaghetti mixture. Top with croutons. Bake at 400 deg. F. for 20 minutes or until hot. Makes four to six servings.

Lycett Sets Maritime Day In Daly City

Mayor Bernard Lycett has proclaimed May 22 as National Maritime Day in Daly City.

The mayor previously had set aside, by proclamation, the week of May 4 through 10 as "Goodwill Week."

Lycett pointed out that many handicapped Daly City citizens are now unable to work and live normal lives because of their handicaps and often require the assistance of a vocational rehabilitation service to test and evaluate their abilities and provide training and work experience to make them employable.

Goodwill Industries of San Francisco "provides the testing, evaluation, training and work services needed by handicapped people," the mayor stated in proclaiming Goodwill Week "to encourage public support for the international program of Goodwill Industries."

In designating National Maritime Day, the mayor explained that the American Merchant Marine "must project the nation's economic strength throughout the world in peacetime and give mobility to our national defense in times of emergency."

He reminded Americans of the "important role the Merchant Marine plays in our national life," and that the Congress in 1933 designated the anniversary of the first transatlantic voyage by a steamship, the SS Savannah, on May 22, 1819, as National Maritime Day.

Blaze Guts Room In Coast Home

A fire which started in the bedroom of a four-year-old boy gutted the room of a Pacifica residence early on Thursday authorities reported. The boy was saved.

Firemen said the Larry Ross residence, 386 Horizon, was damaged in the blaze which started about 6:30 a.m.

Mrs. Ross awakened and smelled smoke coming from the bedroom of her son, Roger, firemen said, and discovered the room in flames when she went to investigate.

The child, who was crouched against the door away from the flames, was apparently unharmed.

Ross shut the door of the bedroom as soon as the child was removed, firemen said, and damage was confined to the one room.

$285,968 Pacifica Permits

Permits for new building totalling $285,968 were issued last month by the Pacifica Community Development Department, Chief Building Official Philip W. Mayo reported.

Seven permits were issued for construction of new residences, two for residential additions, one new commercial and 47 for "miscellaneous structures." The building figures for last month totalled less than one-third the amount on building during April, 1968, when permits were issued for construction valued at $928,332.

Building for the first ten months of the current fiscal year was also down considerably from the comparable period last year.

Tomato Found by Conquistadores After Migration from its Native Peru

What puzzled the Spanish conquistadores, the Italians, the French, the Puritans, the Americans... and went on to become the most highly favored of garden produce? The tomato!

Botanically speaking, the tomato isn't a vegetable at all but a fruit, though related to the homely potato and eggplant (and such off-beat flora as henbane and mandrake, to say nothing of the placid petunia).

Good as Gold—or Love!

"Discovered" in the early sixteenth century by the treasure-seeking Conquistadores in Mexico (where it had migrated from Peru), seeds of the tart "xilotmatles" were carried to Spain and regarded as an herbal curiosity. They looked like apples; "manzanas" was their first name. And, they were yellow, rather than red, so when the Italians eagerly adopted them, they became "pomi d'oro." (Other historians prefer the translation "apple of the Moors," as the Spanish were known, rather than "apple of gold.")

By the time Empress Eugenie imported Spanish chefs to the French court in the eighteenth century, it was only natural that a more romantic Gallic appellation was in order... hence, "pommes d'amour" or "love apples." On reaching Britain, the more phlegmatic English relegated "love apples" to a decorative herb and medicinal plant role. But Cromwell's followers declared them sinful, and that Puritan belief traveled right back across the ocean to the New World.

Respectability at Last!

Even the great gourmet, Thomas Jefferson, wouldn't dispel the fear and distrust of "love apples" still prevalent in 1781, when he imported some seeds from Europe (although farther south, in cosmopolitan New Orleans, the tomato was highly prized in Creole cookery). It wasn't until 1820 when a stalwart citizen publicly consumed tomatoes on the court-house steps in Salem, N.J., that the legend of the fatal effect of "love apples" began to fade away. Forty years later, tomatoes were "respectable" enough to appear in Godey's Lady's Book; however, the "recipe" recommended stewing them for at least three hours!

The Campbell "Legend"

Ever since 1897, when a young Campbell chemist, Dr. John T. Dorrance, developed condensed soup, the search has been on for top quality ingredients to insure the best possible products. Most dramatic of all, perhaps, was and is the quest for the "perfect" tomato... a tomato that would ultimately "perform" so well that two million families a day could (and do) enjoy the delights of tomato soup!

Again, it was in New Jersey that the "legend" of the tomato began. The same Dr. Dorrance (then president of the company) found a tomato that was the richest red he'd ever seen. Hybridizers went to work, crossbreeding thousands of strains through the years to produce tomatoes that must measure up to 27 quality and performance characteristics before they make the grade as "Campbell" tomatoes.

Scientific Know-How

As many as 200,000 plants have been cross-bred to bring out and combine special qualities... flavor, appearance, nutritive value, size, shape, color, and texture, as well as improved yield and resistance to disease. In one year alone, test plantings were made in 10,000 experimental plots in 18 states, two Canadian provinces and four foreign countries. And it can take up to three years to produce seed for just one year's tomato crop.

A veritable army of specialists comprises the research and crop service teams... agricultural scientists, plant geneticists, nutritional experts, entomologists, plant pathologists... experts all. Experts, too, are the carefully selected "contract" farmers who grow the tomatoes. Every kind of up-to-date agricultural device is available to these elite growers... soil testing, recommendations for fertilizing and irrigation, insect and disease control... all designed to improve the quality, yield, and processing characteristics of the valuable crop.

Because the company's operations are so widespread, special consideration must be given to local climatic conditions. Tomatoes require cool nights to "set" the fruit, warm days to mature. Specific varieties, then, had to be bred for different parts of the country. Newest development for cooler climates is the seedling "bank" in Cairo, Georgia. There, selected seeds are planted in specially prepared soil, and the resulting vigorous young tomato plants harvested and rushed in temperature-controlled trucks to Northern contract farmers for transplanting.

Most Versatile Soup Is Tomato

America's all-time favorite soup is tomato. It's the soup with the lively ever-changing personality — made from prize ripe tomatoes, fresh from the vine. It's delicious hot or chilled, and good with a host of different garnishes.

Tomato is also a great cooking soup — the flavor secret of many dishes. It's a saucy flatterer for vegetables pot roast, steaks, meat loaf, chicken spaghetti. It's also a skillet dish magician, a moist ingredient for cake, a casserole wizard, a chowder base, a salad dressing queen.

The following basic recipes demonstrate the many personalities of tomato soup and are exclusive to you in your city.

TOMATO BEEF STEW

1 pound beef cubes
2 tablespoons seasoned flour
2 tablespoons shortening
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup

1 soup can water
6 small whole white onions
6 small carrots, cut in half
3 potatoes, quartered
1/2 teaspoon whole thyme

Dust meat with flour; brown in shortening in large heavy pan. Add soup and water. Cover; simmer 1 1/2 hours. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; cook 1 hour or until vegetables are tender. Stir now and then. To thicken, uncover; cook until desired consistency. Makes 4 servings.

STUFFED ZUCCHINI

2 pounds Zucchini??? (medium)
1 pound lean ground beef
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup

1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons water

Peel zucchini and cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out seeded pulp. Arrange in shallow baking dish 10x6x2 inches. Brown meat and onion; pour off drippings. Add 1/2 can soup, salt, and pepper; spoon over prepared zucchini. Add water to remaining soup; pour over and around stuffed zucchini. Sprinkle with oregano if desired. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake in 350-until zucchini is tender. Makes 4 servings.

APRICOT WALNUT UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

1 package (2 layer) spice cake mix
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup water
3 eggs
1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
halves, drained

Combine first five ingredients. Beat as directed on package. Divide butter and brown sugar between two 9-inch round layer pans; top with an arrangement of apricot halves and walnut pieces. Spread cake mixture evenly over topping. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 35 minutes. Run spatula around edge of each pan. Immediately turn upside down on serving plates. Leave pans over cakes 5 minutes. Serve warm or cooled.

After 200 Years, A Beef Stew in California Is Light, Bright and Whimsical

We're fortunate, we Californians, to have our own home-grown beef to pick and choose from in the markets. For 200 years now the quality and quantity of California beef has been growing. If we feel like steak for dinner, there is always one tailor-made to fit both purse and appetite. The same is true with post roasts and oven roasts. And the research and experimentation never ceases in the effort to improve California beef. To show off its versatility, the home economists for the California Beef Council have come up with new ideas to celebrate the beef industry's Bicentennial Anniversary. This beef stew brings a whiff of spring. Not that there's anything wrong with a good old-fashioned beef stew, ever so filling and comforting on a cold night. But this stew, well, it's light and bright and whimsical. You use top round steak cut very thin and roll it around little bundles of fresh bright carrots and fresh green beans. You brown the little birds, simmer them in tomato soup and cut them into thirds. Voila. The brightness of the vegetables will amaze you.

TASTES LIKE SPRING STEAK STEW

2 pounds California beef top round steak
1/2 pound green beans
1/2 pound carrots
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
3 tablespoons butter
1 (10-ounce) can bisque of tomato soup
1/2 cup can water
2 cups cooked rice

Have butcher cut steak into 3/4 inch slices. Cut these in pieces the length of a whole green bean. Snap ends off beans. Cut carrots in strips the size of the beans. Blanch vegetables tender-crisp in boiling water and cool quickly in cold water. Arrange bundles of carrots and beans in center of beef. Sprinkle with lemon peel mixed with sugar, salt, pepper and monosodium glutamate. Roll up and secure with picks. Brown on all sides in butter. Add soup and water. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Slice rolls into thirds and arrange vegetable side up on rice. Spoon sauce over. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

In this the 200th year of the coming of cattle to California, famous and historical beef recipes with anecdotes about their origin are coming to light and are shared with us by the California Beef Council. When the Italians arrived they brought with them a colorful cooking heritage. By today many of their dishes have become favorites with people from all nations who have chosen California for their new home.

No Italian dinner is ever complete without pasta — spaghetti, tagliarini, ravioli, fettucini, lasagna, tortellini — to mention a few. And more often than not they are combined with beef in one way or another.

One such dish is Pasta Fazool, or pasta and beans. By now, its name has changed to Pasta Fazool, but the flavor and delight of this combination remains the same. Here California ground beef is combined with the essential tomato and beans to make a succulent base. The pasta goes in a well in the middle and a cheese custard is carefully poured over the rigatoni. The dish is then browned in the oven and brought to the table sizzling hot, attractive and delicious.

CALIFORNIA BEEF AND PASTA FAZOL

2 pounds California ground beef
1/2 cup cooking oil
3 large onions, cut into wedges
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 (6-ounce) can tomato paste
1 (1-pound 12-ounce) can oven baked beans, drained
3 cups cooked rigatoni or other pasta
1/2 cup milk
2 beaten eggs
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Brown beef in oil in large skillet. Add onions and garlic and cook, stirring, until onions are limp. Add seasonings, tomatoes, tomato paste and beans. Cover. Simmer 30 minutes. Make a well in center of beef mixture and fill with drained pasta. Mix milk, eggs and cheese and pour over the pasta. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes until lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

Try Chicken Tarragon For Taste Treat

Tarragon, with its slightly anise-like flavor, is recognized by many French chefs as one of the most distinctive of the leaf herbs. When combined with creamery butter, onion and certain seasonings, this pungent flavorer can give a sauce rare piquancy.

So on with tarragon... especially with chicken! Have the poultry ready and waiting in a coating of tarragon butter sauce. Roll in bread crumbs and slowly brown in butter. Butter gives a beautifully browned crust and a delicate flavor.

While the chicken is gently steaming, prepare the rice according to directions on the package and cook to a soft fluffiness. Stir into pan drippings replete with mushrooms previously browned.

Arrange chicken on a hot platter, add the rice, and garnish with slices of pimiento.

To the remaining sauce, add tarragon vinegar and lemon juice. Then serve it hot, ready to ladle over the golden browned chicken. Accompany with a sliced avocado and tomato salad. Buttered Chicken Tarragon... the pride of many a French chef... is now the specialty of your house, too!

BUTTERED CHICKEN TARRAGON

SAUCE:

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon tarragon leaves
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper

CHICKEN:

1 frying chicken, quartered
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup water
1 cup rice
1 cup mushrooms or 1 can (2 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 tablespoon sliced pimiento
2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar

2 tablespoons lemon juice

To prepare chicken: Brush chicken on all sides with sauce. (This should take about half of sauce). Roll in bread crumbs. In skillet, melt 2 tablespoons butter; then slowly brown chicken. When well browned, add water; cover tightly and cook slowly, about 1/2 hour or until tender. Meanwhile, cook rice according to package directions. Arrange chicken on warm platter. In drippings, brown mushrooms lightly, then add rice. Over low heat, stir to absorb all drippings. Service rice on platter with chicken. Garnish with pimiento. To remaining sauce, add vinegar and lemon juice. Serve hot over chicken. Makes 4 servings.

SANDWICH

Raisin bread goes French: Dip slices of raisin bread in egg beaten with a little milk. Fry in hot butter until golden brown. Serve with either hot maple syrup, butter and powdered sugar or your favorite preserves. Delicious! For a noontime sandwich make a French toasted raisin bread cheese sandwich. Gives it the same French dip and fry treatment as above and serve with a cup of hot soup.

Indians Down S.S.F., Move Nearer to N.P.L. Crown

By JERRY LITTELL
Post Sports Writer

The "ol' professor" taught his lesson well, much to his dismay. South San Francisco baseball coach Bob Brian, a leading exponent of strong defense, bunting and base-stealing, had an assistant coach named Tom Martinez last year tutoring his Warrior sophomores. This season Martinez took over the varsity job at Jefferson and Friday the Indians moved to within two games of the North Peninsula League title with a 6-5, nine-inning victory over SSF.

In other league action, Terra Nova kept its hopes alive by downing Oceana, 7-1, while Half Moon Bay got its fifth win at Westmoor's expense, 4-2.

The Jefferson win was typical of the way SSF has won so many games in the past — alert base-running, strong pitching and that all-important bunt. Nick Gentile went all the way for the Indians, pitching a seven-hitter while right-hander Dave Gutierrez made only his second appearance of the year and lost, giving up 13 hits. It was the second straight extra-inning loss for SSF and the fourth extra-inning game the Warriors have been involved in over the 10-game league season.

However, power-hitting, Jefferson's own trademark of the past decade, gave the Indians the needed runs to get into the extra innings. Shortstop Ken Reitz broke out of a batting slump to smash a pair of two-run homers, one in the fifth and another in the seventh, the latter bringing the Indians from a 5-3 deficit to a 5-all tie after regulation play.

Reitz, who had scored Bruce Davidson with his homer in the fifth, came up with one man on and two outs in the seventh. With a 3-0 count on him, Martinez gave Reitz the hit sign and he responded with a towering shot to straight-away center. Such signals make coaches geniuses.

Then came the hectic ninth, Jeff's Bob Lowe gained life when the Warrior defense committed its only error of the game. Davidson then got on via an infield bunt-hit. With two outs the Warriors walked Reitz intentionally but sophomore Smokey Morton laid down another perfect bunt and beat it out while Davidson scored the winning run. Sophomore catcher John Giannini made his first appearance since separating his finger over a month ago successful, throwing out three Warriors on the bases, getting two hits and driving in a run.

SSF's big gun was first baseman Rich Crumpton, who doubled and tripled in a losing cause, and second baseman Jim Beall, also with two hits. Left-hander Bob McClure, the Tigers' pitching hope for next season, gave up just one single in keeping Al Figone's crew in a one-half game off Jefferson's pace. McClure struck out six and walked three in gaining his second win of the year.

Terra Nova struck for the only runs it needed in the first when Bill Downing singled Pat

Woodward walked and Mike Calder, who is now hitting .529, doubled in one run. An errant pickoff attempt allowed another run to score before Mike Humphrey's infield roller drove in the final first-inning tally.

The teams traded runs in the third. Oceana scored on Kevin Johnson's single, an error, an infield out and pitcher Mark Fadden's sacrifice fly. The Tigers came right back with a walk to McClure, another mis-thrown pickoff attempt and Calder's second base hit.

Three more runs in the fifth added color to the Tiger ledger as McClure got on via a fielder's choice, Calder walked, Mike Rawlings doubled in one run, Humphrey got another RBI with another infield hit and an ensuing error on that play allowed Rawlings to score from second.

Lefty Jim Emery wasn't quite as sharp as usual but got some unusual hitting support from his teammates as Half Moon Bay evened its NPL record at 5-5, good enough for a third-place tie.

Emery again went the distance; he has pitched all 69 1-3 innings the Cougars have played, striking out five and walking five. Westmoor drew first blood in the second when Joel Lesser doubled, went to third on an infield out and stole home. Joel Carrara then walked, went to second on a misplayed pickoff try, stole third and scored when Tom Pageorge singled. But after that Emery clamped down and shut out the Rams.

The Cougars evened things up in the fourth when Emery singled, was wild-pitched to second and scored on Tom Evan's triple. Evan got the second run across when Dave Burr singled him in.

Two more runs in the fifth put the game away for HMB. Skip Gianocca got one of his three hits, Emery again singled and John Ramaciotti walked to load the bags. A fielder's choice throw to the plate and an ensuing error let in two unearned runs.

S.S.F. Is Favored To Win N.P.L. Meet

Neither wind, rain, dark of night or a sudden case of the measles is expected to keep South San Francisco High School from its apparent destiny as 1969 Track and Field champion of the North Peninsula League.

That was the logical speculation Friday after the Warriors closed out their dual meet season, minus the talents of their finest athlete, with a convincing 102-34 victory over Oceana.

Ashland Whitfield, a hustling hurdler who represented the Industrial City in last year's CIF State Meet and is expected to do so again this season, was out of action last week with the measles.

Unfortunately for the Warriors' foes, however, he is expected to be fully recovered by Monday — sufficient for a day's practice before the NPL Championship trials were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Westmoor. The finals will be held at the same site Friday and South S.F. ranks as the prohibitive favorite to take the whole thing.

The Warriors' lopsided performance against the Sharks gave Marv Ashby's lads a perfect 6-0 dual meet record, compared to a 5-1 mark for Westmoor, which finished with an 11-point triumph over Terra Nova. The Rams have a chance at the team title in the NPL showdown, but it ranks as a bigger longshot than Phyllis Diller in the Miss Universe contest.

South S.F. tuned up for the league meet with several respectable performances, including the double win efforts of Andy Alexander and Ray Dutton, Kenn Halligan's 10:31 seasonal best in the two-mile, and a 6-0½ high jump triumph by Jim Hollenbeck. Alexander posted 23.0 and 51.9 clockings for the 220 and 440, respectively, while Dutton long-jumped 21-4½ and took the low hurdles in 21.8.

It is expected that the Warriors' front-line talent will accrue success more lethally against the Rams in the league meet than in the dual season, which South S.F. won by 30 points.

Terra Nova gave the Rams formidable competition on the track, but lost any chance for victory in the field events, each of which was won by Westmoor. Highlight Rams' performers included Don Gethel; who cleared 13 feet in the pole vault for the first time this year, and double winners Rich Brown, and John Lewis. Brown won both hurdles while Lewis took the triple and high jumps.

Tigers Won 260 Minute Battle Over South S.F.

It was long. Two-hundred and sixty minutes, to be exact. It was hard fought, in many ways. Thirteen innings of shutout pitching by one hurler. Twelve more from his opponent. One major brawl and four ejections.

But by the time it was over Terra Nova's Tigers stayed right behind the North Peninsula League's leading team, Jefferson, with a 2-0 victory over South San Francisco in 13 innings.

Jefferson stayed ahead with a 3-0 blanking of Half Moon Bay while El Camino drew even at the .500 mark with an 8-3 victory over slipping Westmoor High School.

The Tiger-Warrior game started at 3:15 p.m. May 6 and by 7:15 p.m. that night both TN's John Burgess and SSF's Bruce Collins were still throwing shutout innings. It was just a matter of which pitcher got tired first when the Tigers got to Collins for two game-winning runs.

Mike Humphrey led off the unlucky thirteenth with a single, one of the six hits off Collins. Vince Lampidi echoed then walked and Burgess forced the

Bowlers of tomorrow? At 10 a.m. she held a banquet for the Kings and Queens League, at 11 the qualifying round for "Bowler of the Year" competition started and at 1 p.m. she scheduled an Evaluation Luncheon. Boys and girls from 8 to 18 years are invited to contact Margie for Information concerning the summer programs.

Many of the Westlake Juniors set new marks recently. Leslie Bues shot the first two hundred game of her career with 202 in the Kings & Queens League. Nancy Carr shot her highest game ever, a 165, in the Mercy High School G.A.A. League, in the Lowell High League Clinic. Hury, with a 140 average shot a 207 game. Greg Melter rolled a 192 game in the Serrano No. 2 League. Connie McClure carried an average of 89 in the Spring Bombers League but shot a 140 the game last week.

Westlake candidates for King and Queen of Bowling are Sharon and Hank Goodson and Barbara and Hal McLaughlin. Votes at 10 for $1 for the benefit of the Heart Fund, are available at the game last week.

Summer Youth Baseball Is Underway in Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Department Summer Youth Baseball League got off to a windy start as 34 teams (involving boys in the fifth through eighth grades) representing the Better Youth Association, Our Lady of Mercy, Holy Angels, Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Police Athletic League, St. Elizabeth, St. Andrews and the Teamsters, all braved 30 miles an hour winds in the first of their 12 week season.

In the Midlet Division, Maury Tolson's BYA Marauders belted 12 hits to help the Holy Angels Cubs lose, 11-15.

The St. Elizabeth Cubs, under the one hit pitching of Carl Alito, coasted by the PAL Bugs,

The Intermediate Division saw Jim Walsh's OLM Blues defeat Bart Fitzpatrick's OLM Yankees, 12-5.

Paced by the strong hitting of Dan Andreatta, Rebel Ryan, and Great Gallagher, the St. Elizabeth Dodgers managed to outrun Mike Siotto's strong BYA Thoroughbreds, 7-3.

In the Junior Division, the PAL Colts managed to hold the OLM Hawks to five runs in a 11-5 win.

The one hit pitching of Pete Wollery and the strong hitting of Jose Campus, Jerry Stroller and Charles Collondrez paced the BYA Daredevils to a 14-0 victory over St. Elizabeth.

On the opening night of summer play, Lynette Janks led the ladies in the Belles and Beaus League as she shot a 165 game and 435 series while Tony Sarrucco topped the men with 178 and 510.

Leading lady in the Sheriffs League was Boots Teesey with a 197 game and four game series of 634.

In the Tuesday morning Rebels League, secretary Dee Arnold led the ladies with a big 204 game and 542 series.

On the final night of winter league competition, Joanne Fazzino and Frank Pulizzi took top honors. Joanne rolled a 213 game and 541 series while Frank shot a 195 game and 530 series.

There's still time to join one of the many summer leagues starting at Westlake. Frank Hubert, Jim Leatherberry and John Concilio have the answers to any questions that might arise concerning summer bowling fun.

Leading lady in the Tuesday morning French Brothers Invitational League was Mel Feliciano who posted a big 202 game and 514 series.

Ruby Choy again led the ladies in the Monday evening Lucky Leger League while Mike Moore topped the men.

The West Portal Merchants League started their summer season last Wednesday with turner John Minardi receiving a "Welcome Back" from Westlake Bowlers.

Dolly Applegate led the ladies on opening night with a 147 game and 477 series while Harry Smith rolled a 191 game and 539 series topped the men.

LE PACINI

If you read small print on sports pages, you might recently have found, clustered among many other names on the list of North Peninsula League swimming champions, the name of Bob Martin, 1969's NPL diving champ.

Unfortunately, small print only lists, but never tells stories. Had Martin been a football star or basketball hot-shot, rather than a "minor" sport participant, his name might indeed have been in headlines, and his story in bold-face print, for two years ago the El Camino junior wasn't sure if he could ever again play anything so strenuous as even checkers.

In 1967 freshman Bob Martin reported for the routine physical exam required before any high school boy can go out for football (or any other sport), which was Bob's big love at the time. The examination revealed extremely high blood pressure. His worried parents, Melvin and Betty Martin, took him to a heart specialist, who discovered that by this time Bob had no pulse at all in his legs. Further tests revealed that the main artery to his legs—located in back of his heart—was closed up. As far as Bob was concerned, the world had ended for him.

There ensued an immediate operation, which required four and a half hours of delicate surgery. Bob came out of that frying pan but then went literally into the fire. Because his body temperature had been brought way down for the operation, he was wrapped in special blankets to bring his temperature back up to normal after the operation.

Well, that must have been some kind of heat blanket, because Bob ended up with a relatively mild shoulder burn and a third degree burn on the hip.

He was in the hospital for 22 days through that September and October, and had to be given special treatments, which finally ended at Christmas, on the hip burn while attending school.

Bob, given strict orders by his doctor not to engage in any contact sports, immediately went out for the cross-country team (he made it), the swimming team, and resumed his old hobbies of roller and ice skating. He is now back to virtual normalcy and can do anything any other kid athlete can do except hit people, though divers hit that water pretty hard, at that.

Bob's athletic ability, guts and determination, run in the family. His older brother, Mike (who graduates from San Francisco State this June), played baseball for a championship El Camino team and later at State. He's also getting married in June, and that takes guts.

Bob's cousin is Marty Coll, the Giant farm hand by way of Terra Nova and S.F. State who now plays all positions in the Texas League, and playing any place in Texas takes guts. Marty is also recently married, and...

And finally, there's Bob's father, Melvin, who proudly proclaims that age 52 he has a six-year-old daughter (Susan), and if you don't think THAT...

Anyway, you can see where Bob Martin, El Camino High School's North Peninsula League diving champion—who has now finally gotten out of the small print—gets his guts.

They are considerable, and we sincerely commend him.

LOCAL NOTES: If you missed it last night, you can still see Terra Nova's second annual water show tonight at the Terra Nova pool, 8:15.

The show is presented by the Terra Nova Aquinas and features Jocko the Clown (Jack Frydenlund), who will emcee the show, a stage band, jazz dance groups, a gymnastic team, clown and exhibition divers, and, of course, all of the other swimmers doing their own things.

Cost is $1.00 for adults, 50 cents for students.

Greg Vallee, 1967 Oceana grad, president of the student body and star wrestler, is now a member of the undefeated wrestling team at the United States Military Academy Preparatory School at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia.

Vallee, who wrestles in the 167 pound class, was also a letterman on the varsity football and track teams while at Oceana, and hopes to enter West Point next year, for which the prep school usually conditions young soldiers who pass rigid Army requirements to gain entrance to the school.

San Francisco State basketball stars Joe Callaghan and Girard Chatman were drafted last week by the Warriors.

Pablo Perez, vice principal at Daly City's new Seramonte High School, was a big soccer star at San Francisco's Portola Junior High School in the mid-40's.

MISCELLANY: After the flap over the changing of the strike zone and the lowered mound and the first couple of weeks of big slugging, it looks like the pitching is already catching up with the hitting, or haven't you noticed the preponderance of 1-0, 2-1, 3-2 scores lately?

You know who Cassius Clay is? Nope, not the deposed, true heavyweight champion of the world. That's Muhammad Ali. The original Cassius Clay was Cassius M. Clay of Kentucky, who served as minister to Russia in the 1860's. That Mr. Clay undoubtedly had slaves, and that may be Muhammad's heritage.

Do you know whose quote this is:

"If we could win this fight with another $5,000,000 or $20,000,000 it wouldn't bother us. We have unlimited funds. But I am convinced there isn't room for a third league. So why go on?"

Sound contemporary? Sound reasonable? It was, in 1915, when Harry Sinclair said it. He was one of the principal backers of the Federal League, which folded after that season as a third major league. It had stolen some of the National and American League's biggest stars, including Nap Lajoie and John McGraw and lasted through 1914 and 1915. Fans didn't accept it, and it was felt that there just weren't enough quality players to stock three major leagues. After better than half a century, they still haven't learned.

For what it's worth... What many baseball fans don't realize about the new commissioner, Bowie Kuhn, is that he's an interim commissioner only. He's been given only a one-year contract and could be baseball's last commissioner. There's much talk about a restructuring of the game which would eliminate one high commissioner and put the onus for running the majors on the respective league presidents.

Three Prep Coaches Go To Skyline

The San Mateo Junior College District board of trustees last night approved the employment of three new coaches who will join the physical education staff at Skyline College (San Bruno) under the direction of Walt Rillet.

They are: Bill Herron, currently head baseball coach at Mills High School who will assume similar duties at the new school when it begins competition.

Bob Rush, track coach at San Mateo High School whose Bearcat teams have lost only five dual meets in the last six years.

Norman Friedberg, soccer coach at Galileo High School in San Francisco and a former All-American soccer player at San Francisco State.

The trio joins Lee Allen, CSU wrestling coach who will assume like duties at the new school when it opens in the fall.

Tigers Won 260 Minute Battle Over South S.F.

bags loaded by getting another free pass. Then a ground-rule double by shortstop Bill Downing, his first hit of the game, drove in the deciding runs and gave a highly-deserved victory to Burgess after four hours and 20 minutes.

The stylish righthander, who already has a no-hitter to his credit, gave up just one hit in the 13 innings he threw. That was a single by SSF's Lou Lodigiani in the fourth inning. Burgess struck out 13 Warriors and walked just four.

Collins, meanwhile, had a less artistic but almost as effective outing as he allowed six hits but walked 12 to stay in constant trouble. He hit two others meaning that the Tigers were able to put 24 men on base, counting the errors, but were unable to bring a run across until about 7:25.

A bench-clearing fight erupted in the well-fought contest in the sixth inning when a difference of opinion on a pick-off play at third resulted in an altercation between Mike Calder of TN and Brad Brian of SSF. When the shoving match between the two squads subsided both players were ejected.

Later in the game still another Warrior was thrown out of the game for what the officials considered unsportsmanlike conduct and Warrior Coach Bob Brian was also asked to leave early after a disputed call at third base in the eleventh inning.

Leftfielder Greg Lynch made two fine catches against the cones to save Burgess in the seventh and ninth innings. Both balls, had they not been caught, would have been game-winning home runs.

The Indians' Bill Fischer threw a four-hitter of his own as he struck out six and walked just one in a near flawless performance. Emery, who now owns a 4-5 record, including a no-hitter, struck out 10.

The Indians scored once in the fifth when Mike Egipciao was hit by Emery. He then stole second and Fischer won his own game with a ground-rule double.

In the seventh Jeff added the final two when Smoky Morton was hit by the pitch, Egipciao walked and Fischer was hit by the pitch to load the bags. Catcher George Castro, playing with a dislocated finger since the first inning, single in one run and a Cougar error allowed the final run to score.

PACIFICA'S Jaycees will hold "shooter education" classes May 22 and May 29 at Cabrillo School, with final shooting contests set for June 14, it was announced this week. Shown at an earlier class are (left to right) instructor Rich McLaine, Kathy Norman, 10; assistant instructor Fred Goddard, and Mike Wilson, 9. (Post Photo)

FEMINE FIRST — Rose Fabiano (center), the new manager of Bank of America's Fairmont Center branch in Pacifica, found two important bank officials welcoming her on her first day at the branch last week. Holding the door open for her is Calvin R. Jones, vice president and head of the bank's San Francisco-Peninsula area administration. Accompanying her through the door is Mrs. Claire Giannini Hoffman, daughter of the bank's late founder and president, A. P. Giannini and herself a director of the bank. Miss Fabiano, a resident of Daly City, is the bank's first female branch manager in the Peninsula area.

New Pacifica Bank Manager Is Welcomed to Branch

Rose Fabiano, the newly appointed manager of Bank of America's Fairmont Center branch in Pacifica, found two important bank officials welcoming her on her first day at the branch last week. Holding the door open for her is Calvin R. Jones, vice president and head of the bank's San Francisco-Peninsula area administration. Accompanying her through the door is Mrs. Claire Giannini Hoffman, daughter of the bank's late founder and president, A. P. Giannini and herself a director of the bank. Miss Fabiano, a resident of Daly City, is the bank's first female branch manager in the Peninsula area.

1500 Must Get Mailbox

Pacifica Postmaster Kenneth O. Strom has notified 1,500 homeowners to move their mailboxes from the side of their homes because rock gardens, shrubs and other landscaping arrangements have tripped up his men.

Strom said mailmen have been victims of 13 spills and fractures in the Fairmont district in the past six years—a rate of once every six months. He gave homeowners 60 days to move their mailboxes from slots in the side of garages to the front of the house. If they don't comply, he said, deliveries will be halted.

"It's enough to make you wonder what kind of stamps these guys have been licking," one resident complained. "My kids play by the house every day."

She had formerly been assistant cashier at the Howard-New Montgomery branch in San Francisco and replaces C. L. Murphy, who is now manager of the Polk-Green branch. With Miss Fabiano's appointment, Bank of America now has 15 women branch managers throughout the state.

Authorities Clear Youths In SSF Case

Three of five South San Francisco youths arrested on vehicle theft charges Wednesday night were released without charge. Deputy District Attorney John McInerney said the car in which they were riding was not stolen and there was no way of tying them into the theft of a motorcycle which, it was determined, was stolen.

Released from county jail without charge was James Michael Wiseman, 18, of 713 Hemlock Avenue. Released from Hillcrest Juvenile Hall, also without charge, were Raymond Junior Hernandez, 17, of 1217 Hillside Boulevard, and Daniel Michael Snyder, 16, of 804 Hemlock.

Bradley George Mejaski, 20, of 811 Hemlock, was charged with speeding and driving without a license.

Lawrence Mark Cauchi, 16, of 811 Hemlock Avenue, remained in County General Hospital, booked en route to Hillcrest on charges of vehicle theft, resisting arrest, speeding and possession of marijuana. Cauchi was injured when he fell from the motorcycle while being chased by highway patrolmen.

Officers said the car in which four of the boys were riding was racing with the motorcycle when they took up the chase.

RARE OPPORTUNITY

Eight out of nine men with one year or more experience earned in excess of $14,000 in 1968 and won a week's vacation paid trip to a WORLD-FAMOUS RESORT to boot. Although these men were totally unfamiliar with the nature of this business and they had a wide range of backgrounds before coming to Pitney Bowes, they all shared several things in common. They were hard working men of average intelligence with 2 to 3 years of successful sales experience, who have not had the opportunity to join a company such as ours. If this description of our men sounds like you, we are interested in you. Please call Mike O'Connell at 697-9523 for personal interview.

Jeff El Won't Cut 21 Teachers

The 21 teachers in Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District who received notifications of termination this year will not be dismissed after all, Supt. Frank Greenwood said May 6, "provided our present salary and benefit offer is accepted by the district teachers."

Greenwood said he will recommend that the 21 teachers and consultants marked for possible dismissal be retained if the teachers accept a four percent salary increase and "reasonable" fringe benefits.

"It is my understanding the teachers are agreeable to the salary proposal, but there is still some differences involving the fringe benefits package," he said. "However, I am confident the differences will be resolved."

The superintendent said contract negotiations between the district and the teachers "are progressing more smoothly than ever before" this year.

Jan Beekman, president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association and a member of the negotiating council, said she is hopeful the contract negotiations can be completed this week.

"We had hoped to conclude the negotiations by May 8," she said.

Robert Abbey, principal at Christopher Columbus School and chairman of the Jefferson Educator's Association, and organization of principals and other district administrative personnel, urged the board not to proceed with cutting the teaching staff or eliminating portions of the educational program.

Abbey, who spoke to the board for more than an hour in defense of the teachers, consultants and programs threatened with termination, said district morale has suffered and "teachers' self-concepts have been damaged" by the move.

He said the teachers involved have suffered anxieties over the issue, and it has caused "deep divisions" in the staff.

Abbey praised the board and the superintendent for "establishing excellent programs and hiring excellent personnel to carry them out," and questioned the wisdom of jeopardizing the programs by proposing curtailments.

He also questioned what he termed "value judgments" on the part of the superintendent in selecting the staff members to be notified that their services might not be needed next year.

"I fail to understand why some consultants and program directors were notified, and some were not," Abbey said.

"I feel the district should have notified every staff member in these categories who could be legally dismissed, instead of selecting some of the personnel on an arbitrary basis."

Greenwood said those notified were chosen, for the most part, because they have teaching credentials and could be placed in other positions in the district if it proved necessary to eliminate their jobs because of financial considerations.

However, Abbey insisted that there were, indeed, some "value judgments" involved in the selection.

A petition from the M. Pauline Brown School P-TA opposing the proposed cuts was also received by the board, along with several letters from parents.

Greenwood sent out the letters of notification to the 21 art and music teachers, librarians and consultants in March.

Though the letters stated flatly that the staff members would not be rehired next year, the superintendent said at the time they were distributed "in order to meet a state legal requirement" in the event the district lacked sufficient funds to present a full program.

State law requires that certified personnel be notified prior to March 15 if they are not to be rehired the following year, he said.

"We took this action as a precautionary measure only," the superintendent said.

Use of Narcotics At 'Ben' Reported

By DON GRIERSON

Jefferson Elementary School District Supt. Frank Greenwood and Board of Trustees Chairman Ed Tomaseo candidly conceded May 6 that a narcotics problem exists among twelve and thirteen-year-old students at two of the Daly City junior high schools.

In response to a question from David Parker, "concerned parent of three children in the district schools," Greenwood stated at last night's board meeting that he is aware there have been at least two incidents involving narcotics at the Colma and Benjamin Franklin Schools.

"In one instance, a student brought marijuana to school. In the other, another student, a young girl, brought eight LSD capsules to the campus and distributed them among other students," the superintendent said.

"There is no doubt the kids at Benjamin Franklin and Colma have access to marijuana, and some of them are using it," he said.

"This is not just a local problem. As you know, school districts everywhere are reporting similar incidents."

Greenwood said a "rumor" reported by Parker and alleging that teachers at the district schools were in some way involved in the use of drugs was "utterly preposterous."

Little Response To Needy Youth Jobs Meeting

Wednesday, May 14, 1969 THE POST

James V. Grealish told Daly the amount of local businessmen who attended Thursday's informal breakfast meeting aimed at securing summer jobs for needy youth. Of the more than 100 persons who said they would attend the breakfast at International Joe's Restaurant, only 30 showed up. Six were chamber directors, Grealish noted.

"I wasn't very proud of Daly City this (Thursday) morning," a bitter Grealish told his fellow directors.

Grealish said he had agreed to take on the chairmanship of the special committee endorsed by the chamber, but had failed to reckon with public apathy.

"I'm deeply disgusted with those persons who take jobs and don't follow through. They say they will attend and don't show up," he said.

The long-time civic leader and head of the influential Navy League of the United States further explained that the "needy youth" he referred to "are people who want to work and don't have jobs."

After slapping the community's complacent businessmen, Grealish noted there was a group of "dedicated people" who helped make the meeting partially successful.

These individuals, which include some of the area's top civic leaders and businessmen, have met each month for the past year to iron out problems affecting needy youth and attempting to line up summer jobs for them.

And although the Thursday meeting was "not too encouraging," one organization—the Seramonte Association—pledged some 35 summer jobs.

Others likewise supported the program with jobs, Grealish said. Clem Daniels, former Raiders and 49er football star, was guest speaker at the breakfast. Daniels is presently a member of the Governor's "Athletes for Job" team.

Vietnamese Heads Branch

Joseph Tchong has been named manager of the Pacific branch of Eureka Federal Savings and Loan. Tchong replaces L. H. Gaskin.

Tchong, a native of Vietnam, attended the University of California but his studies were interrupted by the Communist takeover in his homeland. He recently has resumed his studies at night school and will be awarded a B.S. degree in business administration at University of San Francisco in August.

He has been assistant manager of the downtown and Eureka Valley offices and, prior to joining Eureka Federal, had worked for the Bank of America and Walston & Co. security brokers.
